The Making of a Transnational Capitalist Class
William K. Carroll, 2013-04-04 Throughout the world there has been a growing wave of interest in global corporate power and the rise of a transnational capitalist class triggered by economic and political transformations that have blurred national borders and disembedded corporate business from national domiciles Using social network analysis William Carroll maps the changing field of power generated by elite relations among the world's largest corporations and related political organizations Carroll provides an in depth analysis that spans the three decades of the late 20th and early 21st century when capitalist globalization attained unprecedented momentum propelled both by the transnationalization of accumulation and by the political paradigm of transnational neoliberalism This has been an era in which national governments have deregulated capital international institutions such as the World Trade Organization and the World Economic Forum have gained prominence and production and finance have become more fully transnational increasing the structural power of capital over communities and workers Within this context of transformation the book charts the making of a transnational capitalist class reaching beyond national forms of capitalist class organization into a global field but facing spirited opposition from below in an ongoing struggle that is also a struggle over alternative global futures

Equal as Citizens Richard Starr, 2014-04-30

No matter where they live Canadians expect and receive equal benefits from their government when it comes to old age pensions consular services when travelling abroad and airline safety Canadians also expect the same quality of education medical care and social benefits anywhere in the country But when government services come from provinces and not Ottawa differences in the quality of services can be enormous Canada's provinces have equal responsibilities but very unequal means to pay for those responsibilities Equal citizenship for all Canadians is an idea that has a long and distinguished pedigree in Canadian life When differences between the provinces grew dramatically in the early twentieth century politicians crafted a response that sought to equalize services across the country They called these measures equalization and the idea was deemed so fundamental that it was embodied in the 1982 Canadian constitution But Canada has changed The centre of wealth has been shifting from Ontario toward the resource rich provinces The wealth gap between provinces has grown and with it disparities in taxes and services available to citizens Regionalism and neoconservative ideas have undermined support for equal citizenship In this compelling new book Richard Starr traces the history of this idea He tracks how it has been undermined and attacked and proposes how it can be reframed in a twenty first century context to attract the support of most Canadians

Billionaires and Stealth Politics Benjamin I. Page, Jason Seawright, Matthew J. Lacombe, 2018-12-21 A look into the covert influence billionaires wield in American politics and the actions citizens can take to hold them more accountable In 2016 when millions of Americans voted for Donald Trump many believed his claims that personal wealth would free him from wealthy donors and allow him to drain the swamp But then Trump appointed several billionaires and multimillionaires to high level positions and pursued billionaire friendly policies such as cutting corporate income taxes Why the change from his fiery campaign rhetoric and promises to the working class This should not be surprising argue Benjamin I Page Jason Seawright and Matthew J Lacombe As the gap between the wealthiest and the rest of us has widened the few who hold one billion dollars or more in net worth have begun to play a more and more active part in politics with serious consequences for democracy in the United States Page Seawright and Lacombe argue that while political contributions offer a window onto billionaires influence especially on economic policy they do not present a full picture of policy preferences and political actions That is because on some of the most important issues including taxation immigration and Social Security billionaires have chosen to engage in stealth politics They try hard to influence public policy making large contributions to political parties and policy focused causes leading policy advocacy organizations holding political fundraisers and bundling others contributions all while rarely talking about public policy to the media This means that their influence is not only unequal but also largely unaccountable to and unchallengeable by the American people Stealth politics makes it difficult for ordinary citizens to know what billionaires are doing or mobilize against it The book closes with remedies citizens can pursue if they wish to make wealthy Americans more politically accountable such as public financing of political campaigns and easier voting procedures and notes the broader types of reforms such as a more progressive income tax system that would be needed to increase political equality and reinvigorate majoritarian democracy in the United States Praise for Billionaires and Stealth Politics Incredibly important The authors provide for the first time a clear sense of the politics and political activity of the top one hundred billionaires in America matching what billionaires have said with what they've done and showing the troubling transparency gap that is critical to the evolution of policy Billionaires and Stealth Politics is a key addition to understanding our current political reality focused on its most significant lever Lawrence Lessig author of America Compromised The wealth held by American billionaires exceeds the Gross Domestic Product of dozens of countries They exercise tremendous influence over society the economy and politics Yet their impact is not well understood Page Seawright and Lacombe have given us a compelling and original piece of work on an important topic Darrell M West Brookings Institution
