India. Committee on Disturbances in Bombay, Delhi, and the Punjab, 1920 Fields of Desire Holly High, 2014-02-17 In this important new book High argues that poverty reduction policies are formulated and implemented in fields of desire Drawing on psychoanalytic understandings of desire she shows that such programs circulate around the question of what is lacking Far from rational responses to measures of need then the politics of poverty are unconscious culturally expressed mutually contradictory and sometimes contrary to self interest Based on long term fieldwork in a Lao village that has been the subject of multiple poverty reduction and development programs High s account looks at implementation on the ground While these efforts were laudable in their aims of reducing poverty they often failed to achieve their objectives Local people received them with suspicion and disillusionment Nevertheless poverty reduction policies continued to be renewed by planners and even desired locally High relates this to the force of aspirations among rural Lao ambivalent understandings of power and the post rebellious moment in contemporary Laos Palestine Commission on the Disturbances of August, 1929 Great Britain. Peasants in Power Philip Verwimp, 2013-06-03 This book shows how Rwanda s development model and the organisation of genocide are two sides of the same coin In the absence of mineral resources the elite organised and managed the labour of peasant producers as efficient as possible In order to stay in power and benefit from it the presidential clan chose a development model that would not change the political status quo When the latter was threatened the elite invoked the preservation of group welfare of the Hutu called for Hutu unity and solidarity and relied on the great mass rubanda nyamwinshi for the execution of the genocide A strategy as simple as it is horrific The genocide can be regarded as the ultimate act of self preservation through annihilation under the veil of self defense Why did tens of thousands of ordinary people massacred tens of thousands other ordinary people in Rwanda in 1994 What has agricultural policy and rural ideology to do with it What was the role of the Akazu the presidential clan around president Habyarimana Did the civil war cause the genocide And what insights can a political economy perspective offer Based on more than ten years of research and engaging with competing and complementary arguments of authors such as Peter Uvin Alison Des Forges Scott Strauss Ren Lemarchand Filip

Reyntjens Mahmood Mamdani and Andr Guichaoua the author blends economics politics and agrarian studies to provide a new way of understanding the nexus between development and genocide in Rwanda Students and practitioners of development as well as everyone interested in the causes of violent conflict and genocide in Africa and around the world will find this book compelling to read Indian School Days Basil H.
