reading and writing and the very activities that they will use to teach literacy to their own students in middle and high school classrooms. Rather than passively learning about strategies for incorporating content area literacy activities, readers get hands-on experience in such techniques as mapping, webbing, anticipation guides, booktalks, class websites, and journal writing and reflection. Readers also learn how to integrate children's and young adult literature, primary sources, biographies, essays, poetry, and online content communities and websites into their classrooms. Each chapter offers concrete teaching examples and practical suggestions to help make literacy relevant to students' content area learning. Author Sharon Kane demonstrates how relevant reading, writing, speaking, listening, and visual learning activities can improve learning in content area subjects and at the same time help readers meet national content knowledge standards and benchmarks. Translation Studies beyond the Postcolony Ilse Feinauer, Kobus Marais, 2017-01-06 This edited volume explores the role of postcolonial translation studies in addressing issues of the postcolony. It investigates the retention of the notion of postcolonial translation studies and whether one could reconsider or adapt the assumptions and methodologies of postcolonial translation studies to a new understanding of the postcolony to question the impact of postcolonial translation studies in Africa to address pertinent issues. The book also places the postcolony in historical perspective and takes a critical look at the failures of postcolonial approaches to translation studies. The book brings together 12 chapters which are divided into three sections: namely Africa, the Global South, and the Global North. As such, the volume is able to consider the postcolony and even conceptualisations beyond the postcolony in a variety of settings worldwide. African Legal Theory and Contemporary Problems

Oche Onazi, 2013-11-26 The book is a collection of essays which aim to situate African legal theory in the context of the myriad of contemporary global challenges from the prevalence of war to the misery of poverty and disease to the crises of the environment. Apart from being problems that have an indelible African mark on them, a common theme that runs throughout the essays in this book is that African legal theory has been excluded, underexplored, or undertheorised in the search for solutions to such contemporary problems. The essays make a modest attempt to reverse this trend. The contributors investigate and introduce readers to the key issues, questions, concepts, impulses, and problems that underpin the idea of African legal theory. They outline the potential offered by African legal theory and open up its key concepts and impulses for critical scrutiny. This is done in order to develop a better understanding of the extent to which African legal theory can contribute to discourses seeking to address some of the challenges that confront African and non-African societies alike.

Education Landscapes in the 21st Century Iris Guske,2009-03-26 With contributions from scholars and practitioners in the fields of education literacy literature media communication and cultural studies from all five continents the present volume focuses on themes of pressing importance in today's globalized community. By giving voice to educators committed to excellence in teaching from primary school to university, the book introduces the reader to a plurality of approaches to and applications of up-to-date theories in the fields of cognition, language acquisition, intercultural communication, and technology-based distance education, to name but a few. Though situated in a concrete educational context, be it a Chinese EFL classroom in transition, an online MBA course offered in post-Communist Romania, or a U.S. university utilizing community elders as a pedagogical tool, each paper was selected on the universal value of its findings, which professionals facing the challenges of 21st-century pedagogy will find readily applicable in classrooms worldwide. Since teaching paradigms are strongly culture-bound and influenced by national policies as much as international politics, this book represents a maximum of diversity by including philosophical texts, hands-on research results, and articles in the critical discourse tradition, which reflect a number of contentious issues ranging from the pros and cons of dual language classrooms to potentially racist literature curricula and the intersection of politics and pedagogy in a post-September 11 world.

Reading Minjung Theology in the Twenty-First Century Yung Suk Kim, Jin-Ho Kim, 2013-09-16

This edited volume brings Ahn Byung Mu's minjung theology into dialogue with twenty-first-century readers. Ahn Byung Mu was one of the pioneers of Korean minjung theology. The centerpiece of his minjung theology is focused on the Greek word ochlos, understood as the divested, marginalized, powerless people. Part 1 introduces readers to his life and theological legacy. Part 2 includes four important writings of Ahn Byung Mu: Jesus and Minjung in the Gospel of Mark, Minjung Theology in the Gospel of Mark, The Transmitters of Jesus' Event Tradition, and Minjok, Minjung, and Church. Part 3 contains a collection of articles from international scholars who evaluate and engage Ahn's ochlos minjung theology in their own fields and formulate critical readings of minjung theology. Responses include postcolonial, black theology, and feminist perspectives.
