

A romantic couple, a young man and woman, are shown in a close embrace, nearly kissing. They are both smiling and looking at each other. The woman has long brown hair and is wearing a grey textured cardigan. The man has short dark hair and is wearing a grey sweater. They are standing on a green lawn in front of a large, historic stone building with many windows, characteristic of an Oxford university building. The scene is captured in a soft, cinematic style with warm lighting.

Miller and Gilbert Cohen S. At tracing the evolution of the discourse into a postmodern celebration of the device Through detailed readings of specific films Schweinitz also maps the development of models for adapting and reflecting stereotype from early irony Alexander Granowski and conscious rejection Robert Rossellini to critical deconstruction Robert Altman in the 1970s and celebratory transfiguration Sergio Leone and the Coen brothers Altogether a provocative spectacle Schweinitz's history reveals the role of film stereotype in shaping processes of communication and recognition as well as its function in growing media competence in audiences beyond cinema
