Annual Report of the Director ... University of Pittsburgh. Research Bureau for Retail Training,1928 Ready, Set, Learn Brenda Stein Dzaldov,2015-03-25 For the majority of students the skills and work habits crucial to successful learning are not in place when they arrive at the school door These skills must be explicitly taught by teachers who recognize the unique learning styles preferences and interests of their students Ready Set Learn focuses on the importance of encouraging students to set their own learning goals and persevere to achieve them It illustrates ways in which every lesson can be an opportunity for students to develop the skills and strategies they need in order to learn Along with organizers prompts and specific activities this timely book presents new ways to plan lessons that explicitly teach key learning skills including organization collaboration communication independence memory and initiative This remarkable book shows how incorporating learning strategies into everyday work will improve students achievement and create responsible independent learners Dimensions of Early Childhood ,2000 Official Report of the Proceedings of the Board of Education of the City of Chicago Chicago (Ill.). Board of Education, Normal Instructor and Teachers World ,1923 Normal Instructor and Primary Plans ,1919 Choosing Homes, Choosing Schools Annette Lareau,Kimberly Goyette,2014-03-31

A series of policy shifts over the past decade promises to change how Americans decide where to send their children to school In theory the boom in standardized test scores and charter schools will allow parents to evaluate their assigned neighborhood school or move in search of a better option But what kind of data do parents actually use while choosing schools Are there differences among suburban and urban families How do parents choices influence school and residential segregation in America Choosing Homes Choosing Schools presents a breakthrough analysis of the new era of school choice and what it portends for American neighborhoods The distinguished contributors to Choosing Homes Choosing Schools investigate the complex relationship between education neighborhood social networks and larger patterns of inequality Paul Jargowsky reviews recent trends in segregation by race and class His analysis shows that segregation between blacks and whites has declined since 1970 but remains extremely high Moreover white families with children are less likely than childless whites to live in neighborhoods with more minority residents In her chapter Annette Lareau draws on interviews with parents in three suburban neighborhoods to analyze school choice decisions Surprisingly she finds that middle and upper class parents do not rely on active research such as school tours or test scores Instead most simply trust advice from friends and other people in their network Their decision making process was largely informal and passive Eliot Weinginer complements this research when he draws from his data on urban parents He finds that these families worry endlessly about the selection of a school and that parents of all backgrounds actively consider alternatives including charter schools Middle and upper class parents relied more on federally mandated report cards district websites and online forums while working class parents use network contacts to gain information on school quality Little previous research has explored what role school concerns play in the preferences of white and minority parents for particular neighborhoods Featuring innovative work from more than a dozen scholars Choosing Homes Choosing Schools adroitly addresses this gap and provides a firmer understanding of how Americans choose where to live and send their children to school Research in Education ,1971
