Traditional Medicinal Plants and Malaria Merlin Willcox, Gerard Bodeker, Philippe Rasoanaivo, Jonathan Addae-Kyereme,2004-06-28 Malaria is an increasing worldwide threat with more than three hundred million infections and one million deaths every year The worlds poorest are the worst affected and many treat themselves with traditional herbal medicines These are often more available and affordable and sometimes are perceived as more effective than conventional antimala Disease Control Priorities in Developing Countries Dean T. Jamison, Joel G. Breman, Anthony R. Measham, George Alleyne, Mariam Claeson, David B. Evans, Prabhat Jha, Anne Mills, Philip Musgrove,2006-04-02 Based on careful analysis of burden of disease and the costs of interventions this second edition of Disease Control Priorities in Developing Countries 2nd edition highlights achievable priorities measures progress toward providing efficient equitable care promotes cost effective interventions to targeted populations and encourages integrated efforts to optimize health Nearly 500 experts scientists epidemiologists health economists academicians and public health practitioners from around the world contributed to the data sources and methodologies and identified challenges and priorities resulting in this integrated comprehensive reference volume on the state of health in developing countries

Divining without Seeds Iruka N. Okeke, 2011-02-15 Infectious disease is the most common cause of illness and death in Africa yet health practitioners routinely fail to identify causative microorganisms in most patients As a result patients often do not receive the right medicine in time to cure them promptly even when such medicine is available outbreaks are larger and more devastating than they should be and the impact of control interventions is difficult to measure Wrong prescriptions and prolonged infections amount to needless costs for patients and for health systems In Divining without Seeds Iruka N Okeke forcefully argues that laboratory diagnostics are essential to the effective practice of medicine in Africa The diversity of endemic life threatening infections and limited public health resources in tropical Africa make the need for basic laboratory diagnostic support even more acute than in other parts of the world This book gathers compelling case studies of inadequate diagnoses of diseases ranging from fevers including malaria to respiratory infections and sexually transmitted diseases The inherited and widely prevalent health clinic model which excludes or diminishes the hospital laboratory is flawed to often devastating effect Fortunately there are new technologies that make it possible to inexpensively implement testing at the primary care level Divining without Seeds makes clear that routine use of appropriate diagnostic support should be part of every drug delivery plan in Africa and that diagnostic development should be given high priority

Africa South of the Sahara 2004 Europa Publications, 2003 A definitive one volume guide to all sub Saharan African countries providing invaluable economic and directory data

Saving Lives, Buying Time Institute of Medicine, Board on Global Health, Committee on the Economics of Antimalarial Drugs, 2004-10-09 For more than 50 years low cost antimalarial drugs silently saved millions of lives and cured billions of debilitating infections Today however these drugs no longer work against the deadliest form of malaria that exists throughout the world Malaria deaths in sub Saharan Africa currently just over one million per year are rising because of increased resistance to the old inexpensive drugs Although effective new drugs called artemisinins are available they are unaffordable for the majority of the affected population even at a cost of one dollar per course Saving Lives Buying Time Economics of Malaria Drugs in an Age of Resistance examines the history of malaria treatments provides an overview of the current drug crisis and offers recommendations on maximizing access to and effectiveness of antimalarial drugs The book finds that most people in endemic countries will not have access to currently effective combination treatments which should include an artemisinin without financing from the global community Without funding for effective treatment malaria mortality could double over the next 10 to 20 years and transmission will intensify

Global Crises, Global Solutions Bjørn Lomborg, 2004-10-25 A unique publication exploring the opportunities for addressing ten of the most serious challenges facing the world today Climate Change Communicable Diseases Conflicts Education Financial Instability Corruption Migration Malnutrition and Hunger Trade Barriers Access to Water In a world fraught with problems and challenges we need to gauge how to achieve the greatest good with our money Global Crises Global Solutions provides a rich set of arguments and data for prioritising our response most effectively Each problem is introduced by a world renowned expert defining the scale of the problem and describing the costs and benefits of a range of policy options to improve the situation Each challenge is evaluated by economists from North America Europe and China who attempt a ranking of the most promising options Whether you agree or disagree with the analysis or conclusions Global Crises Global Solutions provides a serious yet accessible springboard for debate and discussion
