Sandra Day O'Connor: First Woman Justice

Key Ideas and Details Answer

- 1.) Sandra was sent to live with her grandparents because her parents cared a lot about her education. There were good schools to attend in El Paso where her grandmother lived, so she spent the school year living with her grandmother.
- 2.) Since Sandra graduated early from high school and finished two degrees in six years, I can infer that Sandra was a very intelligent and driven woman. In the text it says, "She graduated at the top of her class" which also supports my answer.
- 3.) The main idea of the seventh paragraph is that Sandra Day O'Connor worked hard to become a Supreme Court Justice, which is a very important role. In the text, the author states that the decisions of a Supreme Court Justice "affect the law for the entire country." The text also states that, "She was firm in her ruling and although she was tough, she was known to be always fair." This evidence supports the idea that Sandra would have needed to work very hard to become a Justice that knew the laws of our country very well so that she could make very important rulings.
- 4.) Sandra worked very hard all throughout her years in school and in her job after college. In the text, the author states that she graduated high school at the age of sixteen and then graduated early from college with two degrees. Sandra also worked hard in her career starting as a deputy attorney and then working her way up to getting elected into the state senate. All of the hard work in her career eventually was worth it because she was recognized by the President who then appointed her as the first woman Supreme Justice.

Sandra Day O'Connor: First Woman Justice

Craft and Structure

- 1.) The word accepted means to be selected or chosen for something. In the text, the author says, "men were more likely to be accepted to universities before a woman." This means that men were more likely to be selected to study at a university than women which supports the meaning of accepted.
- 2.) The word discrimination means unfair judgement. In the text, the author talks about how Sandra wanted to get a job as a lawyer, but she was unable to due to the unfair judgements of women.
- 3.) The word firm means tough or hard. In the text, the author states, "She was firm in her ruling and although she was tough, she was known to be always fair." This evidence supports the idea that firm means tough or hard.
- 4.) The structure of the text is sequence and cause and effect. The reason why it is sequence is because the text takes you through Sandra's life starting in the past and working into the present in sequential order. It can also be seen as cause and effect because all of Sandra's hard work in the beginning of her life caused her to be recognized for her hard work which got her appointed as the first woman Justice of the Supreme Court.

Sandra Day O'Connor: First Woman Justice

Integration of Knowledge and Ideas

- 1.) There is evidence from the text that supports the author's point of view that Sandra continues to be a role model for women. In the text, the author discusses all the hard work that Sandra put into her schooling and how it was such an amazing feat to be accepted into a university because most women did not go to college during this time. The author then discusses all of her hard work that she did after college which was recognized by the President and then she was finally appointed to the Supreme Court as the first woman Justice. This evidence supports the idea that Sandra was a role model for women because she did things that women were not able to do and achieved goals that most women at that time would not have had the opportunity to achieve.
- 2.) Answers will vary from student to student for this answer as it is more of an opinion question.
