The Immune Response to Therapeutic Antibodies Daniel T. Mytych, Michael Tovey, Arno J. Kromminga, 2025-02-25 Therapeutic antibodies have revolutionized the treatment of numerous serious diseases in particular chronic diseases with a complex physiopathology such as cancer autoimmune and inflammatory disorders Therapeutic antibodies are also used to treat acute diseases such as COVID 19 Although the use of therapeutic antibodies has led to considerable progress in the treatment of numerous diseases such therapies are often associated with adverse events and loss of the therapeutic response due in part to an undesired immune response to the therapeutic agent

Dimopoulou, Giulia Menchinelli, Chrysanthi Skevaki, 2023-11-29 Changes in T Cell Populations and Cytokine Production in SARS-CoV-2 Infected Individuals; Their Role in Prognosis Athanasia Mouzaki, Rupesh K. Srivastava, Ahmed Abdul Quadeer, 2025-07-30 At the time of writing this call for papers for the special issue Changes in T cell populations and cytokine production in SARS CoV 2 infected individuals their role in prognosis June 10 2022 over 534 million people have been infected with SARS CoV 2 virus of whom over 6.3 million have died Early studies of COVID 19 reported that infection with SARS CoV 2 results in dysregulation of the immune and hematopoietic systems manifested by lymphopenia increased numbers of hyperactivated neutrophils and NK cells and the development of tolerogenic APCs that suppress T cell mediated immunity In patients with COVID 19 lymphopenia mainly due to depletion of effector T cells with a concomitant decrease in regulatory T cells Tregs accompanied by significant upregulation of cytokines IL 1 IL 6 TNF IL 10 and chemokines MCP1 IP 10 MIP1A MIP1B have been associated with a poor outcome The continued evolution of SARS CoV 2 including the rapid accumulation of viral mutations to the point that new viral variants with different characteristics are emerging has led to great concern about the ability of these variants to evade the immune response triggered by natural infection and or vaccination The recent wave of infection has been caused by the omicron variant B.1.1.529 which has 5 sublineages BA.1-5 that differ in the number of mutations in the spike protein and by the emerging deltacron variant which resulted from recombination of the omicron with the delta B.1.617.2 variant The rapid international spread of emerging variants with mutations associated with escape from vaccine induced immunity poses a major challenge for pandemic control and prevention of COVID 19 Important questions have been raised about the impact of SARS CoV 2 variants on transmissibility disease severity the effectiveness of existing COVID 19 vaccines in preventing severe disease humoral response and the role of T cell immunity in vaccinated individuals Recent studies have shown that heavy mutations in the spike protein of the SARS CoV 2 omicron and deltacron variants have resulted in their ability to evade spike specific neutralizing antibodies however their effect on cellular immunity including cross reactive T cells generated by vaccination or natural infection is less clear Detailed studies linking humoral and cellular immunity to the COVID 19 outcome will be useful for uncovering prognostic biomarkers and developing future vaccines We welcome research papers on immune system involvement in COVID 19 including but not limited to the following topics The role of immune cells and cytokines in COVID 19 Immune biomarkers for COVID 19 The Science Teacher, 2008 Medinfo Marius Fieschi, Enrico Coiera, Yu-Chan Jack Li, 2004 A fundamental challenge for medical informatics is to develop and apply better ways of understanding how information technologies and methods can help support the best care for every patient every day given available medical knowledge and resources In order to provide the most effective healthcare possible the activities of teams of health professionals have to be coordinated through well designed processes centered on the needs of patients For information systems to be accepted and used in such an environment they must balance standardization based on shared medical knowledge with the flexibility required for customization to the individual patient Developing innovative approaches to design and build evidence based careflow management systems is essential for providing the knowledge management infrastructure of health care organizations that seeks to increase performance in delivering high quality care services by efficiently exploiting available resources Parallel challenges arise in the organization of research at the biological and clinical levels where the focus on systematically organizing and supporting processes of scientific inquiry by novel informatics methods and databases are in their very early stages These Proceedings of Medinfo 2004 demonstrate the base of knowledge medical informatics professionals will collectively draw upon in the years ahead to meet these challenges and realize opportunities Cumulated Index Medicus

Index Medicus ,2004 Vols for 1963 include as pt 2 of the Jan issue Medical subject headings The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells,2005 Homeostasis and Allostasis of Thyroid Function Johannes W. Dietrich,John E. M. Midgley,Rudolf Hoermann,2018-08-29 The discovery of the negative feedback of thyroid hormones on pituitary thyroid stimulating hormone TSH secretion a classical endocrine feedback control system has shaped diagnosis and treatment of thyroid disease for the last decades Based on this concept a unique diagnostic category of subclinical thyroid disorders was introduced being defined exclusively by an abnormal TSH response in the presence of thyroid hormone concentrations within the reference range Although this approach was able to deliver a conceptually straightforward disease definition problems surfaced in clinical practice as neither the diagnostic reference range nor the appropriate threshold for initiating substitution treatment are universally agreed upon for subclinical thyroid disorders The situation is further aggravated by the so called syndrome T which comprises a substantial but heterogeneous group of L T4 treated patients with hypothyroidism with reduced quality of life despite normal TSH values A limited understanding of the physiological relationships between TSH and thyroid hormones may be a main reason for clinical difficulties in dealing with the causes of syndrome T and tailoring substitution therapy for hypothyroid patients with subclinical thyroid disorders Feedback regulation has recently been shown to be much more complex than previously assumed The concept of homeostatic control has also been extended to include the lesser known but equally important allostatic thyroid regulation The latter aims at adaptive homeostasis or stability through changing setpoints and modulating structural parameters of feedback control as may be appropriate to adapt to a vast array of conditions spanning from fetal life aging pregnancy exercise starvation obesity psychiatric disorders to the severe non thyroidal illness syndrome A better understanding of homeostatic and allostatic mechanisms which govern the behaviour of pituitary thyroid feedback control is on the horizon This promises to improve the diagnostic utility of laboratory methods laying the foundation for personalised methods to optimise dosage and modality of substitution therapy The emerging new world of thyroid physiology is reflected on the side of clinical medicine in a new relational paradigm for diagnosis and treatment. Considerable progress has been made in this respect in the following key areas: the significance of complementary information processing structures within the feedback loop; in particular, ultrashort feedback of TSH on its own secretion and the action of a TSH/T3 shunt unburdening the thyroid from T4 synthesis in imminent thyroid failure; the unravelling of spatio-temporal dynamics of hormone concentrations ranging from ultradian to circannual rhythms and including hysteresis effects; the emergence of non-canonical mechanisms of thyroid hormone signalling beyond transcriptional control of gene expression; the physiological actions of thyronine metabolites which have been previously regarded as biologically inactive such as thyronamines and iodothyroacetates; the characterisation of distinct patterns in the adaptive processes to stress and strain and their conclusive explanation through reactions to type 1 and type 2 allostatic load. This collective volume contains the contributions to the Research Topic Homeostasis and Allostasis of Thyroid Function which was originally published by the journal Frontiers in Endocrinology. Authored by an international team of experts from three continents, the book provides a comprehensive overview on thyroid control from recent research in basic computational and clinical thyroidology. Many aspects addressed here can be expected to stimulate future research. A more comprehensive view and better integration of in vitro, in silico and in vivo investigations will be invaluable in paving the way to this new world of thyroidology.
