Too Young To Die A Novel Of World War 2 Paratroopers:

Too Young to Die Francis McManus, 2014-09-18 Four young paratroopers have been deployed to Italy It is the late spring of 1944 just days before D day Their mood is festive and after all that training and a long boat ride from the states they are anxious to join the fighting Unfortunately more training awaits them along with a sojourn in Rome It isn't until August of 44 after they have sampled the wine and the women of Italy that they finally get orders to the front The truth is trained as pathfinders they will lead the invasion into Southern France When they are dropped in the wrong place the action will keep you turning the pages as the boys become men and help turn the tide of the victory over the Nazis Francis McManus himself a Silver Star recipient for his service in World War II a member of the Greatest Generation passed away in 1996 He was a Pathfinder like the men in the story so this fictional account is as real as any writer could have made it he was there but he always insisted that this was just a story Members of his family have prepared this book for publication in his memory

Never a Dull Moment Arthur 'Ben' Powers, 2024-09-30 Just when you thought everything about the 82nd Airborne Division in World War II had been published author Ben Powers delivers Never a Dull Moment The 80th Airborne Anti Aircraft Artillery Battalion in World War II Excellently researched and written this powerful book fills a critical void about a lesser known but so very important unit in the 82nd Colonel Mark C Plug Vlahos USAF Retired USAAF Troop Carrier and Glider Operations Historian and Author Most modern books and films glamorize World War II airborne soldiers as troopers leaping into the night to descend by parachute into combat Much less often considered is the role of glider forces Glider troops lacked the panache and special distinctions of paratroopers despite their critical role in airborne warfare Likewise World War II ground combat is characterized as a combined arms fight of infantry and armor backed up with field artillery by comparison the role played by specialized supporting arms has received scant attention The 80th AAA Battalion was a glider outfit providing anti-aircraft defense and anti-tank capability to the division's three infantry regiments as battlefield conditions dictated Elements of the battalion fought in Italy Normandy Holland and the Battle of the Bulge making combat glider assaults during both Operation Neptune and Operation Market Garden The exploits of the men of the 80th tend to be obscured as commanders maneuvered the batteries wherever their special skills were needed on the battlefield with no regiment to call a permanent home The 80th AAA battalion was a hybrid unit While its members were considered Coast Artillery the branch responsible for defending ground formations from air attack during WWII they fought alongside parachute and glider infantry most often providing direct fire anti armor support with 57mm 6 pounder cannons While field artillery both parachute and glider established their gunlines some distance behind infantry units to provide indirect fire support the men of the 80th fought face to face with the enemy alongside their infantry brothers Congressional Record United States.
