

Nursing Manager Skills Inventory

Nurse Managers apply the inventory tools while rating and reviewing themselves in their content areas through the relevant scales. According to Baxter and Warshawsky (2014), the procedure is essential in guiding nurse manager supervisors to rate the nurse leaders in their respective responsibilities. Indeed, the inventory tool is significant in analyzing both the professional targets and nurse work planning. According to Stefanczyk, Hancock and Meadows (2013), leadership within the nursing profession requires adequate knowledge of how to manage the available resources for the improvement of service delivery. The nursing inventory helps nurse manager to identify their strengths and weaknesses in the four competent areas addresses by the scale for them to determine how they can effectively apply the skills in promoting change in their institutions.

Concerning personal and professional accountability, I always seek to improve my ability to offer the best services to patients consistent with my level of education and nursing expertise. Titzer, Shirey and Hauck (2014) argue that nursing practice is a growing experience and seeking information and help from other nurses is critical for the improvement of patient care. Therefore, I make it a priority to learn from more experienced colleagues to help me understand the profession better. Indeed, I realize that nursing is a profession where the patient is at the center of service delivery and make their needs the priority at all times. According to Baxter and Warshawsky (2014), if nurses fail to address the needs of the patients, they are subject to endangering their lives and compromise the delivery of quality care. Notably, I have a weakness in this area where I tend to blame my colleagues if something goes wrong during practice even when I had a role to play.

Concerning career planning, I have always maintained a working plan for five years.
