La transmission écrite du Coran dans les débuts de l'islam François Déroche, 2009-05-25 The codex Parisino petropolitanus is one of the earliest witnesses of the handwritten transmission of the Qur'anic text which has survived to this day. The various fragments which were part of the original manuscript are scattered among various collections; once put together they provide a unique picture of the state of the text during the 7th century: orthography and textual peculiarities and of the circumstances in which the canonical version as we know it today took shape physically. The present study, first of its kind, paves the way for a more accurate understanding of the beginning of Islam based on a significant document and of the evolution of the Qur'an during that period. Le codex Parisino petropolitanus est l'un des plus anciens témoignages de la transmission manuscrite du texte du Coran qui aient été conservés. Ses différents fragments sont dispersés entre plusieurs collections; une fois mis ensemble, ils donnent un aperçu unique sur l'état du texte au 7^e siècle, l'orthographe et les particularités textuelles et sur les conditions dans lesquelles s'est organisée matériellement la constitution de la version canonique telle que nous la connaissons. Cette étude, première de son genre, ouvre la
