

Study Guide—Part III

1. Explain the word “transformation” as it applies to the changes in form that occur from birth to the developmental stages described.

2. Research embryos of all four amphibians and a non-amphibian (mammal) to determine when in life a given body transformation (e.g., limb development) is complete.

3. What do you observe about the relative rate of different transformations from birth to sexual maturity relative to relative age of the organism?

4. Research to identify the relative age at maturity for several “wild” animal species. Do you observe any commonality?

5. Research to identify the relative age at which a given body transformation (e.g., reaching sexual maturity) occurs in several species of amphibians. Do you observe any commonality?

6. Research “critical factor” biological variables (e.g., growth, maturity) within a selected species. Why might a given biological process (e.g., maturation) take the place of transformational processes within a species?
