Cultural Differences Philip Robert Harris, Robert T. Moran, Sarah Virgilia Moran, 2004 Publisher Description

Independent Africa Emmanuel Kwaku Akyeampong, 2023-07-18 Independent Africa explores Africa's political economy in the first two full decades of independence through the joint projects of nation building economic development and international relations Drawing on the political careers of four heads of states Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana Ahmed S kou Tour of Guinea L opold S dar Senghor and Julius Kambarage Nyerere of Tanzania Independent Africa engages four major themes what does it mean to construct an African nation state and what should an African nation state look like how does one grow a tropical economy emerging from European colonialism how to explore an indigenous model of economic development a third way in the context of a Cold War that had divided the world into two camps and how to leverage internal resources and external opportunities to diversify agricultural economies and industrialize Combining aspects of history economics and political science Independent Africa examines the important connections between the first generation of African leaders and the shared ideas that informed their endeavors at nation building and worldmaking Ethnicity, Foreign Aid, and

Economic Growth in Sub-Saharan Africa John M. Cohen, 1995 Africa's Growth Tragedy William Easterly, 1996

The Cultural Crisis of Sub-Saharan Africa as Depicted in the African Writers' Series Michael Perry Kweku Okyerefo, 2001 Africa has variously been described as the lost Continent a Continent at risk not least because of the ethnic or civil wars plaguing this continent and their concomitant genocide Indeed Africa has been plunged into a political and socio economic quagmire This state of cultural crisis is what this work makes its theme Crisis as a sociological phenomenon which in the case of the African situation in contrast to the conventional European appraisal is apparently far from being a transitional period a period of decision This sociological analysis of historical African literary works is aimed at creating that self awareness which is imperative as a curb on African identity crisis to warrant the impetus for human development on this continent Colonial Mentality and the Destiny of Africa Godfrey Mwakikagile, 2020-03-20 In his book Colonial

Mentality and the Destiny of Africa Godfrey Mwakikagile examines the negative impact of colonial mentality on Africa's well being as a continental crisis and how it impedes Africa's progress and the quest for an African renaissance The Comparative and International Law Journal of Southern Africa, 1991 Africa Works Patrick Chabal, Jean-Pascal Daloz, 1999 Are there social political and cultural factors in Africa which aspire to the continuation of patrimony and conspire against economic development In association with the International African Institute North America Indiana U Press

Nationalism and National Projects in Southern Africa Ndlovu-Gatsheni, Sabelo J., Ndhlovu, Finex, 2013 Despite the fact that nationalism and its national projects have in recent years been severely criticised by postcolonial theorists for being fundamentalist and essentialist by feminists for being patriarchal and exclusive by global financial institutions for being antagonistic to development and globalisation by Pan Africanists for being anticontinental unity and by those Africans born after decolonisation for being irrelevant Sabelo J Ndlovu Gatsheni and Finex Ndhlovu's book convincingly argues that nationalism has defied its death and displayed remarkable resilience and resonance Since the end of the Cold War what has been poignant has been the enduring contest tensions and contradictions between the growth of various forms of transnationalism on the one hand and a resurgence of territorial as well as other narrow and xenophobic forms of nationalism on the other In this important book Ndlovu Gatsheni and Ndhlovu provide new critical reflections on nationalism and its national projects in southern Africa covering South Africa Zimbabwe and the Democratic Republic of Congo DRC a member of SADC The national question is interrogated from different disciplinary vantage points to reveal how it impinges on contemporary challenges of nation building development devolution of power language questions and citizenship on the one hand and ethnicity nativism and xenophobia on the other

Identity Politics and Ethnic Conflicts in Rwanda and Burundi Godfrey Mwakikagile, 2012 This work looks at conflicts between the Hutu and the Tutsi in Rwanda and Burundi The conflicts between the two groups have sometimes been characterised as ethnic although neither group has fundamental attributes of ethnicity or ethnic identity which separate one from the other They have the same culture They speak the same language And they have had a common history during the past 400 years They have intermingled and have intermarried for so long since the Tutsi arrived in the region about 400 years ago that whatever differences existed between them in the past in terms of culture identity and biology have been erased Yet they do exist as distinct social groups They maintain separate group identities as Hutus and as Tutsis mainly because of the asymmetrical relationship between them Inequity of power has solidified those identities Historically the Tutsi minority have been the rulers Their status as the dominant group was enhanced during colonial rule when the Belgians favoured and recognised them as the traditional rulers superior to the Hutu thus legitimising inequalities between the two groups The differences between them were even given official sanction And the subordinate status of the Hutu majority was used by the Belgians to justify discrimination against them in terms of employment and educational opportunities while favouring the Tutsi The conflict between the two groups is rooted in inequity of power fuelled by stereotypes against the Hutu majority

Domination of the Hutu majority by the Tutsi minority which started before the advent of colonial rule has also solidified ethnic identities of the two groups through the years. A shared consciousness among the members of each group and their distinctiveness each seeing themselves as different from the other have also played a major role in the evolution and consolidation of these separate identities. Refugees, Africa's Challenge Derrick Knight, Christian Aid, 1978. This is a report about the current situation of refugees in Africa, causes of mass exodus and provisions for assistance programmes. After a detailed discussion of the causes which include the preservation of the former colonial boundaries and the remaining struggles for independence, the report cites as examples Equatorial Guinea, the hidden war in the Western Sahara and Soweto. The report states that because the term refugee is open to interpretation, there is wide abuse of refugee rights and presents four case histories of refugees in Kenya. It divides the refugees into two categories: urban and rural. It also describes the work of the UN, national governments, voluntary agencies, the Organization of African Unity (OAU) and the All Africa Conference of Churches (AACC). It concludes with Britain's attitude to the situation, indicating that interest in refugees has declined and that there is need for a long-term Government strategy. African Sociology Bernard Magubane, 2000. The sociological and political writings of Bernard Makhosezwe Magubane on African political history, political economy and political philosophy constitute a vital portion of a monumental legacy to later generations by an African intellectual who came to maturity through an historical consciousness that emerged during the 1960s. This was a period characterized by the radical, contentious philosophies of history: African marxism, African nationalism and the reactionary ideologies aligned with imperialism and colonialism. The essays of Bernard Makhosezwe Magubane stand at a fascinating intersection with the intellectual systems of Frantz Fanon, H. I. E. Dhlomo, Ngũgĩ wa Thiong'o and Amílcar Cabral. They are first and foremost what Cabral and Fanon were clamoring for: an instrumentarium of the construction of a progressive African ideology or African ideologies. What enabled them to realize this remarkable breakthrough is that they are a continuation of the revolutionary thought of Fanon and Cabral. Magubane was among the first African academic scholars to have seen the historical significance of Fanon and Cabral respectively in the mid 1960s and in the early 1970s. Written in exile during the exile period in South African intellectual and cultural history, these essays until recently were not easily historically locatable within the genealogical structure of South African intellectual traditions. Undoubtedly, this had been due to the political philosophy of apartheid and its ideological manifestations. Africa Research Bulletin, 1980. Reconceiving Identities in Political Economy Laura Doyle, Simon Gikandi, Mwangi wa Githĩnji, 2025-04-10. Reconceiving Identities in Political Economy comprises one volume in an unprecedented three-volume set collectively subtitled Decolonial Reconstellations. Together with Volume One Dynamics of Deep Time and Deep Place and Volume Two Dissolving Master Narratives, it gathers thinkers from across world regions and disciplines who reconfigure critical global thought. Collaboratively conceived, the volumes are founded on the observation that we cannot fully uproot the epistemological material violence of coercive systems nor fully re-imagine more ethical visions of planetary community without shared attention to the deeper histories of place and peoples that shape the present Accordingly the volumes gather social scientists and humanists Indigenous and non Indigenous scholars and intersectional and materialist thinkers who reconceptualize longue dur e history and its afterlives They engage in the dual project to dismantle eurocentric colonial androcentric frameworks and to make visible the legacies of care and creative world making that have sustained human communities Uncovering pasts that are as complex and dynamic as the present the contributors brilliantly transform notions of temporality relationality polity conjuncture resistance and experimentation within histories of struggle and alliance They richly decolonize political imaginaries The co editors introductions articulate fresh frameworks of deep place and deep time freed from eurocentric modernity paradigms indicating pathways toward decolonial collaboration and institutional change Decolonial Reconstellations offers invaluable resources for researchers and teachers in decolonial postcolonial anti colonial and Indigenous studies and will also strongly appeal to feminist anti racist Marxist and critical theory scholars across disciplines
