- Thompson's plan for post-independence was designed to encourage investment. Whether in private, shared or co-operative and mixed ownership, government involvement was viewed with some suspicion. It is, however, difficult to see how the country could be developed as a free market economy. It was a necessary step to create a more balanced and more efficient economy.
- McKenzie's post-independence objective is to build a free market economy, but with some government involvement and this is post-independence but he is in favour of a free market economy in the long run.
- Thompson's view is that government is the only way to build a free market economy and that is the only way to build a free market economy and that is the only way to build a free market economy.
