Reinventing a Small, Worldly City Ana Gonçalves, 2016-11-10 Focusing on Cardiff the capital city of Wales in the UK this book reflects on a contemporary small European city its development characteristics and present struggles Following a century in which it was dubbed the world's coaltropolis the decline in demand for coal meant that Cardiff endured an acute process of de industrialisation In seeking to address this and the related high levels of unemployment it has experienced a process of cultural and social reinvention since the 1980s and more significantly after Wales turned into a devolved nation in the late 1990s Cardiff's development from a small port into a capital city is examined and special attention is paid to the city's cultural and social transformation in recent decades that has relied on the expansion of specific cultural clusters and tourism which have been decisive for the transformation of its cultural identity and in shaping the city's individual and collective memories and identities Cardiff epitomises a quintessential case of urban reinvention cultural regeneration and social transformation lying between two apparently contradictory paradigms the need to respond to global demands and the effort to maintain its cultural distinctiveness and Welsh roots Therefore it sets the scene for a wider reflection on small cities especially in the European setting and what generally characterises these cities their liveability cultural creativity and community empowerment as well as the fact that they facilitate mobility and social interaction These worldly cities the book contends present interesting opportunities and challenges at the urban economic social and cultural levels that rely on more human scale people based approaches to cities thus defying existing urban hierarchies and categorisations

The Humanities Reloaded Keyan G. Tomaselli, Pier Paolo Frassinelli, 2023-03-21 This volume examines the crisis of humanities narratives in the context of neoliberal capitalism and of the emergence and consolidation of the metrics driven corporate managerial university Do narratives of the crisis of the humanities mobilize specific notions of value and prestige How are these notions classed gendered and racialized How do narratives of the crisis of the humanities relate to current debates and contestations surrounding decolonization Does the crisis of a traditional configuration of the humanities open up opportunities to use their institutional space for work that is both socially and politically relevant and academically rigorous. The aim is to provide a counter narrative of the present and future of the humanities. In addition to the study of a multiplicity of media texts and other multimodal expressive forms, formats and platforms and genres, a communicative turn in the humanities entails deepening the study of the value chains in which they are inserted and their conditions of production, circulation and reception. Communicative and digital capitalism, now labelled the Fourth Industrial Revolution, is on its way to bringing its own waves of struggles and confrontations to our campuses and beyond to which humanities scholars and activists can make a vital contribution should some of us decide to do so. This book will be of interest to researchers and advanced students of art, literature, media and cultural studies, education, politics, sociology and social and cultural anthropology. The chapters in this book were originally published in the journal Critical Arts: South North Cultural and Media Studies.

Handbook of Musculoskeletal Pain and Disability Disorders in the Workplace Robert J. Gatchel, Izabela Z. Schultz, 2014-05-08. Also, specialized chapters offer lenses for understanding and administering the best approaches for treating specific pain disorders and explore what workplaces can do to accommodate affected employees and prevent injuries from occurring in the first place.

Human Law and Computer Law: Comparative Perspectives Mireille Hildebrandt, Jeanne Gaakeer, 2013-05-23. The focus of this book is on the epistemological and hermeneutic implications of data science and artificial intelligence for democracy and the Rule of Law. How do the normative effects of automated decision systems or the interventions of robotic fellow beings compare to the legal effect of written and unwritten law? To investigate these questions, the book brings together two disciplinary perspectives rarely combined within the framework of one volume. One starts from the perspective of code and law, and the other develops from the domain of law and literature. Integrating original analyses of relevant novels or films, the authors discuss how computational technologies challenge traditional forms of legal thought and affect the regulation of human behavior Thus pertinent questions are raised about the theoretical assumptions underlying both scientific and legal practice
