Transitions In Papers:

Transitions in Writing, 2018-03-12 Transitions in Writing addresses the experiences of writers as they move between contexts of writing and juggle new and different demands Spelman Miller and Stevenson bring together research by scholars in a range of settings across the world who approach transition from different standpoints Transition is often conceived of as a change in setting coinciding with physical or temporal relocation such as between stages of an educational or professional career However writers also manage more local micro level transitions as they move between genres registers and rhetorical moves to meet the demands of the task The combination of both macro and micro level perspectives on transition offers a novel broad conception of the types of change a writer encounters and illustrates a range of methodological approaches appropriate to exploring such transitions

Transitions towards sustainable agriculture and food chains in peri-urban areas Krijn J. Poppe, Katrien Termeer, Maja Slingerland, 2023-09-04 Agriculture is changing rapidly The greatest current challenge to the agricultural sector is for it to become sustainable in all three of the dimensions profit people and planet This is certainly the case in highly urbanized countries like the Netherlands where agriculture is confronted with high land prices rising consumer concerns for issues like animal welfare and negative environmental effects but also with new demands from the city for recreation health care and local food products These are some of the developments in our society that are forcing agriculture to change The government farmers the agri food industry and the retail sector struggle to meet this challenge and find new forms of governance In the Netherlands the government has called for a transition towards sustainable agriculture and it is investing in this programme with its research and education policy Similar trends have been observed in other countries This book presents the expertise that has been accrued from at least five years of Dutch research in this area The aim is to collate the results of the experiments to learn from them to confront them with existing theory and to share them with a larger audience in order to foster learning about transition Given the leading position of the Netherlands in global agriculture in a highly urbanized setting and its leading position in the study of transition theory this should be of significant interest to students and researchers of the transitions in agriculture as annual meeting places to discuss the progress in the field of Petri nets and related models of concurrency. They provide a forum for researchers to present and discuss both applications and theoretical developments in this area. Novel tools and substantial enhancements to existing tools can also be presented. In addition, the conferences always welcome a range of invited talks that survey related domains as well as satellite events such as tutorials and workshops. The 2008 conference had six invited speakers, two advanced tutorials and four workshops. Detailed information about PETRI NETS 2008 and the related events can be found at <http://ictt.xidian.edu.cn/atpn/acsd2008>. The PETRI NETS 2008 conference was organized by the Institute of Computing Theory and Technology at Xidian University, Xi'an, China, where it took place during June 23–27, 2008. We would like to express our deep thanks to the Organizing Committee chaired by Zhenhua Duan for the time and effort vested in the conference and for all the help with local organization. We are also grateful for the financial support of the National Natural Science Foundation of China (NSFC Grant No. 60433010), Xidian University and the Institute of Computing Theory and Technology at Xidian University.
