The Oxford Guide to Literature in English Translation Peter France, 2000 This guide highlights the place of translation in our culture encouraging awareness of the process of translating and the choices involved making the translator more visible Concentrating on major writers and works it covers translations out of many languages from Greek to Hungarian Korean to Turkish For some works e g Virgil s Aeneid which have been much translated the discussion is historical and critical showing how translation has evolved over the centuries and bringing out the differences between versions Elsewhere with less familiar literatures the Guide examines the extent to which translation has done justice to the range of work available

Goethe in English Derek Glass, Martin H. Jones, 2005 This bibliography was commissioned by the English Goethe Society as a contribution to the celebration in 1999 of the 250th anniversary of Goethes birth It sets out to record translations of his works into English that have been published in the twentieth century up to and including material published in that anniversary year It aims to serve as wide a constituency as possible be it as a simple reference tool for tracing a translation of a given work or as a documentary source for specialized studies of Goethe reception in the English speaking world The work records publications during the century not merely translations that originated during this period It includes numerous reprintings of older material as well as some belated first publications of translations from the nineteenth century It shows how frequent and how long enduring was the recourse of publishers and anthologists to a Goethe Victorian in diction a signal factor in perceptions and misperceptions Derek Glass was putting the finishing touches to the bibliography at the time of his sudden death in March 2004 Colleagues at Kings College London have edited the final manuscript which is now published jointly by the English Goethe Society and the Modern Humanities Research Association both as a worthy commemoration of Goethes anniversary and as a tribute to Derek himself

Evaluation and Translation Carol Maier, 2014-04-23 The definition of value or quality with respect to work in translation has historically been a particularly vexed issue Today however the growing demand for translations in such fields as technology and business and the increased scrutiny of translators work by scholars in many disciplines is giving rise to a need for more nuanced more specialized and more explicit methods of determining value Some refer to this determination as evaluation others use the term assessment Either way the question is one of measurement and judgement which are always unavoidably subjective and frequently rest on criteria that are not overtly expressed This means that devising more complex evaluative practices involves not only quantitative techniques but also an exploration of the attitudes preferences or individual values on which criteria are established Intended as an interrogation and a critique that can serve to prompt a more thorough and open consideration of evaluative criteria this special issue of The Translator offers examinations of diverse evaluative practices and contains both empirical and hermeneutic work Topics addressed include the evaluation of student translations using more up to date and positive methods such as those employed in corpus studies the translation of non standard language translation into the second language terminology the application of theoretical criteria to practice a social textual perspective and the reviewing of literary translations in the press In addition reviews by a number of literary translators discuss specific translations both into and out of English
