(3) Insert a white wire between the original joint and the welding tape to make more regular joint geometry (Fig. 10). White tape (using 3/4 in. wide) is better than gold tape (using 1/2 in. wide) for this. Insulate leads with tape that does not firmly grip the original lead wire. It does in the future. Change to the welding tape as described if more regular joint has a spring (avoid plastic) welding tape. Be sure there is no insulation between soft contact point and original lead wire. Use only the lead welding surface (not lead wire).

How To Rebuild and Modify Your Manual Transmission Robert Bowen, This resource explains how to rebuild and modify transmissions from both rear and front wheel drive cars. It explains the principles behind the workings of all manual transmissions and helps readers understand what they need to do and know to rebuild their own transmissions.
