Beamish, 2018-03 Transnational Management offers a uniquely global focus on strategic development organizational capabilities and management challenges Managing Cultural Differences Robert T. Moran, Neil Remington Abramson, Sarah V. Moran, 2014-02-24 The world of business for all organizations in the twenty first century is global interdependent complex and rapidly changing That means sophisticated global leadership skills are required more than ever today Individual and organizational success is no longer dependent solely on business acumen Our ability to understand communicate and manage across borders countries and cultures has never been as important as it is now The understanding and utilization of cultural differences as a business resource is a key building block as companies rely on their global reach to achieve the best profit and performance For this reason international business and cross cultural management are key topics in undergraduate business MBA and executive education programs worldwide as companies and institutions prepare current and future business leaders for the global marketplace This exciting new edition of the highly successful textbook Managing Cultural Differences seeks to guide students and any person with global responsibilities to understand how culture fits in a changing business world how to gain a competitive advantage from effective cross cultural management and gives practical advice for doing business across the globe With updated content new case studies and a new author team Managing Cultural Differences is required course reading for undergraduates postgraduates and MBA students alike as well as being of significant value for anyone who sells purchases travels or works internationally

Remaking Ourselves, Enterprise and Society G.P. Rao, 2016-04-08 Decision makers interested in going beyond their own personal and professional interests and involving themselves in humanising their organization community and society should read Remaking Ourselves Enterprise and Society This book is about adherence to human values at an institutional level and its starting point is the belief that human beings have basic goodness which in turn is reflected in the desire to be of help to others and to do good Professor Rao introduces the Indian concept of Spandan Heartbeat Spandan is operationalized through a process of diagnosis discovery and development enabling organizations to achieve an optimal balance between what are defined as transactional transformational and terminal human values This leads to management and organizations developing sensitivity to the needs of others which they come to understand When such sensitivity becomes integral to its work ethic and culture an organization is able to temper its commitment to task with humanity and it becomes functionally humane Experience suggests not surprisingly that organizations that can achieve this optimal balance between results and relations achieve higher employee commitment and productivity and increased accommodative spirit that better equips them to deal with difficult times This exciting addition to Gower's Transformation and Innovation Series will enlighten business leaders governmental and non governmental policy makers management educators organization developers and researchers
