privacy policies to help with transparency and engagement the development of software to protect privacy and the idea of automated consent functionalities that allow users to bypass the task of reading vast amounts of online consent agreements The author suggests that these small scale changes to online consent obtaining procedures could if successfully implemented provide us with a way of self managing our privacy in a way that avoids a revolutionary dismantling of the data economy In the process readers are encouraged to rethink the very purpose of providing informed consent online Rethinking Informed Consent in the Big Data Age will appeal to researchers in normative ethics applied ethics philosophy of law and the philosophy of AI It will also be of interest to business scholars communication researchers students and those in industry
