Junior Graphic Mavis Kitcher (Mrs), 2014-11-05 Daily Graphic Ransford Tetteh, 2014-04-24 Socioculturally Responsive Assessment Randy E. Bennett, Linda Darling-Hammond, Aneesha Badrinarayan, 2025-05-01

Socioculturally Responsive Assessment assembles the best available thinking from within and outside the educational measurement community about the theoretical foundations and systems level policy implications of formal assessment programs designed to be socioculturally responsive. Synthesized from culturally responsive assessment design and practices, culturally relevant pedagogy, and funds of knowledge, universal design for learning, the learning sciences, and other literatures, this emerging concept affirms that students' learning and performance is inextricably tied to the social, cultural, and linguistic contexts in which they live and develop knowledge. Across four sections, this book provides an argument and initial evidence for impact on students, users, and assessment quality; offers guidance for implementation and examines the potential limitations, pitfalls, barriers, and measurement issues that such programs will inevitably raise. Scholars, teaching faculty, test developers, and policymakers will come away with integral foundations, new assessment approaches, and a greater sense of the potential for positive impact that these assessments may afford.

Modern Mathematics Dirk De Bock, 2023-03-08

The international New Math developments between about 1950 through 1980 are regarded by many mathematics educators and education historians as the most historically important development in curricula of the twentieth century. It attracted the attention of local and international politicians, teachers, and of parents and influenced the teaching and learning of mathematics at all levels, kindergarten to college graduate, in many nations. After garnering much initial support, it began to attract criticism. But as Bill Jacob and the late Jerry Becker show in Chapter 17, some of the effects became entrenched. This volume, edited by Professor Dirk De Bock of Belgium, provides an outstanding overview of the New Math/modern mathematics movement. Chapter authors provide exceptionally high quality analyses of the rise of the movement and of subsequent developments within a range of nations. The first few chapters show how the initial leadership came from mathematicians in European nations and in the United States of America. The background leaders in Europe were Caleb Gattegno and members of a mysterious group of mainly French pure mathematicians who since the 1930s had published under the name of a fictitious Nicolas Bourbaki. In the United States, there emerged during the 1950s various attempts to improve U.S. mathematics curricula and teaching, especially in secondary schools and colleges. This side of the story climaxed in 1957 when the Soviet Union succeeded in launching Sputnik, the first satellite. Undoubtedly, this is a landmark publication in education. The foreword was written by Professor Bob Moon, one of a few other scholars to have written on the New Math from an international perspective. The final epilogue chapter by Professor Geert Vanpaemel, a historian, draws together the overall thrust of the volume and makes links with the general history of curriculum development, especially in science education, including recent globalization trends.

Children, Childhood, and the Future Andrea Kleeberg-Niepage, 2020-01-10

most of the world's children live in the Global South much of the corpus of scientific knowledge which forms the basis of the current notion of good childhood worldwide is drawn from research on Western middle class children Even cross cultural research often applies the Western model of childhood as the standard to which others must correspond This volume serves to bridge this gap by both bringing up significant features of the development and socialisation of children in African countries and presenting cross cultural procedures which help to discuss and develop differentiated and joint ideas about childhood instead of implementing one sided standards which are disconnected from most children's lives

Handbook of Caribbean Economies Robert E. Looney, 2020-11-10 This volume aims to illustrate the uniqueness of the economies of the countries and territories of the Caribbean as well as the similarities they share with other regions While most countries in the region share many of the characteristics of middle income countries theirs is a matter of extremes Their generally small size suggests a fragility not found elsewhere While much of the world is beginning to feel some effects of climate change the Caribbean is ground zero These factors suggest a difficult road ahead but the chapters presented in this volume aim to help to spur the search for creative solutions to the region's problems The chapters written by expert contributors examine the Caribbean economies from several perspectives Many break new ground in questioning past policy mindsets while developing new approaches to many of the traditional constraints limiting growth in the region The volume is organized in four sections Part I examines commonalities including issues surrounding small economies tourism climate change and energy security Part II looks at obstacles to sustained progress for example debt natural disasters and crime In Part III chapters consider the specific role of external influences including the USA and the European Union the People's Republic of China as well as regional co operation The volume concludes in Part IV with country case studies intended to provide a sense of the diversity that runs through the region

Community Participation with Schools in Developing Countries Mikiko Nishimura, 2020-08-04 The Sustainable Development Goals SDGs 2016-2030 set by the United Nations in 2015 restated the importance of universal primary education for all and specifically discuss quality equity and inclusion in basic education To achieve this the role of community has been emphasized and participation has become a buzzword in international development over the past several decades Despite the growing attention to community participation in school management previous literature has shown mixed results in terms of its actual practice and its impacts on quality equity and inclusion in education This book deepens the contextual understanding of community in developing countries and its involvement in schools in general and its impact on quality equity and inclusion of school education in particular By presenting various case studies in Asia Africa Latin America and a post conflict state in Europe the book analyses commonalities and differences in the ways communities are involved and cast their impacts and challenges The book contributes knowledge on the ways in which community involvement could work in developing countries the detailed processes and factors that make community participation work in different dimensions and remaining challenges that scholars and practitioners still need to be concerned and mindful in the field This book will appeal to both researchers and practitioners who are concerned about the community participation approach for the SDGs

Community Participation in School Management Kazuro Shibuya,2022-09-12 Nobody denies that trust in schools is key to success in generating any educational outcomes However trust is often eroded resulting in conflicts alienation and differentiation among school level stakeholders This book analyses school based management SBM of education through the lens of relational trust in the context of Ghana revealing how community participation in school management leads to educational outcomes Conducting quantitative analysis of headteacher questionnaires from public basic schools and qualitative analysis of case study schools in the Akatsi South District of Ghana Shibuya offers critical insights into building sustainable relationships between individual households and geographical school communities He argues it is critical to highlight relational trust as an analytical tool to examine relationships between actors and factors in school management The research finds that trust in schools is a two way mechanism and the mutuality of expectations and obligations among stakeholders is essential if children s learning outcomes are to improve With its mixed methods approach this book will be a valuable resource for scholars in comparative education those in educational development and those interested in African contexts House Document ,2014 ERKEN ÇOCUKLUK EĞİTİMİ MOZAIĞI: Büyük Düşünceler/Fikirler, Modeller ve Yaklaşımlar

more interested in issues surrounding agricultural and food issues than ever before Are pesticides safe Should we choose locally grown food Why do some people embrace new agricultural technologies while others steadfastly defend traditional farming methods In the debates about organic food genetically modified organisms and farm animal welfare it s not always clear what the scientific studies are actually telling us To understand these controversies and more the authors of Agricultural and Food Controversies What Everyone Needs to Know begin by encouraging readers to develop an understanding of how two well educated people can form radically different opinions about food Sometimes the disputes are scientific in nature and sometimes they arise from conflicting ethical views This book confronts the most controversial issues in agriculture by first explaining the principles of each side of the debate guiding readers through the scientific literature so that they can form their own educated opinions Questions asked Are organic foods truly better for your health Are chemical fertilizers sustainable or are we producing cheap food at the expense of future generations What foods should we eat to have a smaller carbon footprint Does buying local food stimulate the local economy Why are so many farm animals raised indoors Should antibiotics be given to livestock Is genetically modified food the key to global food security and does it give corporations too much market power Is the prevalence of corn throughout the food system the result of farm subsidies Providing a combination of research and popular opinions on both sides of the issue Agricultural and Food Controversies

What Everyone Needs to Know allows readers to decide for themselves what they personally value and believe to be important when it comes to their food

Charleston Susan Crawford, 2023-04-04 An unflinching look at a beautiful endangered tourist pummeled and history filled American city At least thirteen million Americans will have to move away from American coasts in the coming decades as rising sea levels and increasingly severe storms put lives at risk and cause billions of dollars in damages In Charleston South Carolina denial boosterism widespread development and public complacency about racial issues compound the city like our country has no plan to protect its most vulnerable In these pages Susan Crawford tells the story of a city that has played a central role in America s painful racial history for centuries and now as the waters rise stands at the intersection of climate and race Unbeknownst to the seven million mostly white tourists who visit the charming streets of the lower peninsula each year the Holy City is in a deeply precarious position Weaving science narrative history and the family stories of Black Charlestonians Charleston chronicles the tumultuous recent past in the life of the city from protests to hurricanes while revealing the escalating risk in its future A bellwether for other towns and cities Charleston is emblematic of vast portions of the American coast with a future of inundation juxtaposed against little planning to ensure a thriving future for all residents In Charleston we meet Rev Joseph Darby a well regarded Black minister with a powerful voice across the city and region who has an acute sense of the city s shortcomings when it comes to matters of race and water We also hear from Michelle Mapp one of the city s most promising Black leaders and Quinetha Frasier a charismatic young Black entrepreneur with Gullah Geechee roots who fears her people s displacement And there is Jacob Lindsey a young white city planner charged with running the city's ten year comprehensive plan efforts who ends up working for a private developer. These and others give voice to the extraordinary risks the city is facing. The city of Charleston with its explosive gentrification over the last thirty years crystallizes a human tendency to value development above all else. At the same time Charleston stands for our need to change our ways and the need to build higher, drier, more densely connected places where all citizens can live safely. Illuminating and vividly rendered, Charleston is a clarion call and filled with characters who will stay in the reader's mind long after the final page.
