Sources and Methods in African History Toyin Falola, Christian Jennings, 2004 An overview of the ongoing methods used to understand African history Spurred in part by the ongoing re evaluation of sources and methods in research African historiography in the past two decades has been characterized by the continued branching and increasing sophistication of methodologies and areas of specialization The rate of incorporation of new sources and methods into African historical research shows no signs of slowing This book is both a snapshot of current academic practice and an attempt to sort through some of the problems scholars face within this unfolding web of sources and methods The book is divided into five sections each of which begins with a short introduction by a distinguished Africanist scholar The first section deals with archaeological contributions to historical research The second section examines the methodologies involved in deciphering historically accurate African ethnic identities from the records of the trans Atlantic slave trade The third section mines old documentary sources for new historical perspectives The fourth section deals with the method most often associated with African historians that of drawing historical data from oral tradition The fifth section is devoted to essays that present innovative sources and methods for African historical research Together the essays in this cutting edge volume represent the current state of the art in African historical research Toyin Falola is the Jacob and Frances Sanger Mossiker Chair in the Humanities and University Distinguished Teaching Professor at the University of Texas at Austin Christian Jennings is a Doctoral Candidate in History at the University of Texas at Austin

Combinatorial Pattern Matching Alberto Apostolico, Masayuki Takeda, 2002-06-19 The papers contained in this volume were presented at the 13th Annual Symposium on Combinatorial Pattern Matching held July 3-5 2002 at the Hotel Uminonakamichi in Fukuoka Japan They were selected from 37 abstracts submitted in response to the call for papers In addition there were invited lectures by Shinichi Morishita University of Tokyo and Hiroki Arimura Kyushu University Combinatorial Pattern Matching CPM addresses issues of searching and matching strings and more complicated patterns such as trees regular expressions graphs point sets and arrays in various formats The goal is to derive non-trivial combinatorial properties of such structures and to exploit these properties in order to achieve superior performance for the corresponding computational problems On the other hand an important goal is to analyze and pinpoint the properties and conditions under which searches cannot be performed efficiently Over the past decade a steady flow of high quality research on this subject has changed a sparse set of isolated results into a full edged area of algorithmics This area is continuing to grow even further due to the increasing demand for speed and efficiency that stems from important applications such as the World Wide Web computational biology computer vision and multimedia systems These involve requirements for information retrieval in heterogeneous databases data compression and pattern recognition The objective of the annual CPM gathering is to provide an international forum for research in combinatorial pattern matching and related applications
