

A Hunting Trip

News of the tiger's attack on a woman spread like wildfire. This was not the tiger's first appearance in the village. Before this attack, the villagers had lost a few goats and poultry but the disappearances remained a mystery as nobody could confirm that they were a tiger's doing. Then the tiger struck.

This time, the victim was a 32-year-old woman who was washing clothes by Tasik Bina. The villagers at once organized a hunting party. Armed with machetes and rifles, the hunting party, comprising six stocky men and me, left the Kampung Tempayan on 10 June. The leader of the hunting party was an aborigine named Awang.

We had an early night. Mosquitoes and eerie sounds made by the nocturnal creatures of the jungle kept us awake for most of the night. I had almost made up my mind to give up. At first break of daylight, we were up. We ate the food we had brought and set off for Kampung Melur. Our walk slowed down to a snail's pace as we had to make our way cross muddy paddy fields. As it began to get dark, we frantically searched for a site to set up camp. Suddenly, we saw the flicker of kerosene lamps in the distance.

Our stomachs growling with hunger and our aching bodies in dire need of good rest, we decided to spend the night at Kampung Melur. The hospitable villagers provided us with a tasty meal of hot porridge and salted fish. After we had discussed the details of the ambush on the tiger with the villagers, we went to sleep.

At the break of dawn, we headed for the hills to the north of the village. After meticulously searching for the tiger's paw prints, we came to a clearing. Awang waved us to a stop. We exchanged glances, unable to contain our excitement. All of a sudden, some bushes rustled and there, among some bushes and shrubs, the figure of the king of the jungle loomed into sight. A shiver crept up the spine of every single man present.

Awang steadied his rifle, aimed it between the tiger's eyes and pulled the trigger. For a few hair-raising moments, we stood rooted to the ground, unable to move. The tiger staggered, groaned in pain, collapsed and died.

Mission accomplished, we headed back to our village. It had been an incredible adventure, one that would remain in our memories for a long time to come.

Essays in Narrative and Fictionality Brian Richardson, 2021-06-24. This book brings together several major essays on foundational topics of narrative studies and the theory of fictionality by one of the preeminent figures of postclassical narrative theory. It reexamines and reconceives the role of the author, the status of implied authors, the model for unnatural narrative theory, the nature of narrative, and the ideological implications of narrative forms. It also explores the status of historical characters in fictional texts, the paradoxes of realism, the presence of multiple implied readers, the role of actual readers, and the question of fictionality. In addition, an appendix offers a useful approach for teaching narrative theory. The book includes analyses of works by Conrad, Joyce, Woolf, Nabokov, Beckett, Jeanette Winterson, Deborah Eisenberg, and others. Throughout, it argues for a more expansive conception of narrative theory and keen attention to the nature and difference of fiction. This provocative book makes crucial interventions in ongoing critical debates about narrative theory, literary theory, and the theory of fictionality, and is essential reading for all students of narrative.

Handbook of the American Short Story Erik Redling, Oliver Scheiding, 2022-01-19. The American short story has always been characterized by exciting aesthetic innovations and an immense range of topics. This handbook offers students and researchers a comprehensive introduction to the multifaceted genre with a special focus on recent developments due to the rise of new media. Part I provides systematic overviews of significant contexts ranging from historical political backgrounds, short story theories developed by writers, print and digital culture to current theoretical approaches and canon formation. Part II consists of 35 paired readings of representative short stories by eminent authors, charting major steps in the evolution of the American short story from its beginnings as an art form in the early nineteenth century up to the digital age. The handbook examines historically, methodologically, and theoretically the coming together of the enduring narrative practice of compression and concision in American literature. It offers fresh and original readings relevant to studying the American short story and shows how the genre performs American culture.

The Cambridge Companion to the American Short Story Michael J. Collins, Gavin Jones, 2023-05-25. Comprising new work by leading scholars, this book traces the history of American short fiction and provides original avenues for research.

New Directions in Rhizomatic Learning Myint Swe Khine, 2023-06-05. Drawing on the theories and philosophies of Deleuze and Guattari, this edited collection explores the concept of rhizomatic learning and consolidates recent explorations in theory building and multidisciplinary research to identify new directions in the field. Knowledge transfer is no longer a fixed process. Rhizomatic learning posits that learning is a continuous dynamic process making connections using multiple paths without beginnings and ending in a nomadic style. The chapters in this book examine these notions and how they intersect with a contemporary and future global society Tracking the development of the field from poststructuralist thinking to nomadic pedagogy this book goes beyond philosophy to examine rhizomatic learning within the real world of education It highlights innovative methods frameworks and controversies as well as creative and unique approaches to both the theory and practice of rhizomatic learning Bringing together international contributors to provide new insights into pedagogy for 21st century learning this book will be of interest to academics researchers and postgraduate students in education and adjacent fields Scott Foresman Literature and Integrated Studies Alan Carroll Purves,1997 Telling the Story in the Data Caroline Heller,2022 Traditional dissertations aiming to illuminate the landscapes of education are often too poorly written to have far reaching readership This book examines the inner workings of a doctoral course focused on teaching qualitative researchers strong narrative writing By the time doctoral students finish their dissertation research bolstered by theoretical grounding and time in the field they are in a unique position to offer insights about education that should be heard in the public arena not just during dissertation defenses For this to happen doctoral students need to know how to achieve their writerly goals This book focuses on helping doctoral students and all qualitative researchers do just that It is also an excellent resource for professors teaching narrative writing Readers will learn how to use narrative writing to tell the story in the data so their research will be read and potentially infuse policy decisions with the complexity such considerations deserve Book Features Assists students and qualitative researchers with writing research in an engaging and informative manner Focuses on the craft and ethics of writing as an essential constituent of good research Offers practical guidance appropriate for self study or for professors of education who teach writing Weal and Woe Reinder Ruard Ganzevoort,Heye K. Heyen,2004 This book explores the connections between salvation and evil in their Christian religious and non religious shapes How are our biographies embedded in the Christian tradition and the surrounding culture How do we deal with experiences of evil and how do we yearn for or enact shalom The Kampen research group in practical theology and ethics explores these concepts and argues for a multidimensional understanding Real World Writing for Secondary Students Jessica Singer Early,Meredith DeCosta,2012-12-09 One of the most important ways to scaffold a successful transition from high school to college is to teach real world gate opening writing genres such as college admission essays This book describes a writing workshop for ethnically and linguistically diverse high school students where students receive instruction on specific genre features of the college admission essay The authors present both the theoretical grounding and the concrete strategies teachers crave including an outline of specific workshop lessons teaching calendars and curricular suggestions This text encourages secondary teachers to think of writing as a vital tool for all students to succeed academically and professionally Appropriate for courses and teacher professional development this accessible book Reconceptualizes the ways in which writing can best serve marginalized students examines research based curricular and teaching approaches for the secondary school classroom provides a writing workshop
