authors identify both local factors and transnational patterns in the decision making process Eight case studies reveal the trade offs each country makes as it decides whether to pursue delay or block development Those outcomes in turn reflect the nature of a country s political process and the power of interest groups on both sides of the issue The contributors also ask whether the economic arguments made by the shale industry and its government supporters have overshadowed the concerns of local communities for information on the effects of shale operations and for tax policies and regulations to ensure broad based economic development and environmental protection As an informative and even handed account The Shale Dilemma recommends practical steps to help countries reach better more transparent and more far sighted decisions
