Encourage abdominal or pursed lip breathing exercises. Demonstrate effective coughing and deep-breathing techniques. Suction secretions as needed. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Forced spirometry is the most reproducible and objective measurement of airflow obstruction. This provides the client with some means to cope with or control dyspnea and reduce air trapping. Breathing exercises are complex and diverse. They have been reported to effectively improve the strength and endurance of respiratory muscles. Explosive or uncontrolled coughing causes airways to collapse and spasm, trapping the mucus. Suctioning clear secretions that obstruct the airway, therefore improves oxygenation. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Goal not met: Patient refused to participate in teaching of spirometry and stated they were tired. Goal not met: Patient refused to participate in teaching of pursed lip breathing exercises. If implemented patient would have less air trapping and improved oxygenation. Goal met: Patient taught how to cough effectively to bring up secretions. Goal not met: Patient refused suction. If implemented, patient would have improved oxygenation and better airway clearance.
