Fresh Kills Martin V. Melosi,2020-01-28 Fresh Kills a monumental 2 200 acre site on Staten Island was once the world s largest landfill From 1948 to 2001 it was the main receptacle for New York City s refuse After the 9 11 attacks it reopened briefly to receive human remains and rubble from the destroyed Twin Towers turning a notorious disposal site into a cemetery Today a mammoth reclamation project is transforming the landfill site constructing an expansive park three times the size of Central Park Martin V Melosi provides a comprehensive chronicle of Fresh Kills that offers new insights into the growth and development of New York City and the relationship among consumption waste and disposal He traces the metamorphoses of the landscape following it from salt marsh to landfill to cemetery and looks ahead to the future park By centering the problem of solid waste disposal Melosi highlights the unwanted consequences of mass consumption He presents the Fresh Kills space as an embodiment of massive waste linking consumption to the continuing presence of its discards Melosi also uses the landfill as a lens for understanding Staten Island s history and its relationship with greater New York City The first book on the history of the iconic landfill Fresh Kills unites environmental political and cultural history to offer a reflection on material culture consumer practices and perceptions of value and worthlessness An Examination of

Federal 9/11 Assistance to New York United States. Congress. House. Committee on Homeland Security. Subcommittee on Management, Integration, and Oversight,2006 Watching War on the Twenty-First Century Stage Clare Finburgh Delijani,2017-07-27 What do we watch when we watch war Who manages public perceptions of war and how Watching War on the Twenty First Century Stage Spectacles of Conflict is the first publication to examine how theatre in the UK has staged debated and challenged the ways in which spectacle is habitually weaponized in times of war The battle for hearts and minds and the war of images are fields of combat that can be as powerful as armed conflict And today spectacle and conflict the two concepts that frame the book have joined forces via audio visual technologies in ways that are more powerful than ever Clare

Finburgh's original and interdisciplinary interrogation provides a richly provocative account of the structuring role that spectacle plays in warfare engaging with the works of philosopher Guy Debord cultural theorist Jean Baudrillard visual studies specialist Marie Jos Mondzain and performance scholar Hans Thies Lehmann She offers coherence to a large and expanding field of theatrical war representation by analysing in careful detail a spectrum of works as diverse as expressionist drama documentary theatre comedy musical satire and dance theatre She demonstrates how features unique to the theatrical art namely the construction of a fiction in the presence of the audience can present possibilities for a more informed engagement with how spectacles of war are produced and circulated If we watch with more resistance we may contribute in significant ways to the demilitarization of images And what if this were the first step towards a literal demilitarization
