Mesarovic, 2012-12-06 By JOHN A HRONES Provost Case Institute 0 Technology SYSTEMS have been the subject of man s study for many hundreds of years Thus the solar system has been the concern of the astronomer The study of the allocation of material and human resources within the boundaries of an industrial firm or a government has been the concern of the economist. The subject of such studies have been widely known as economic systems. Medieval men have worked with the human body. Thus man has attempted to deal with a complicated array of interconnected elements since the very earliest of recorded time. In his attempt to improve his understanding of physical systems, the need to concentrate on a specific kind of system, e.g. the solar system, the human body, became more imperative. However, in recent years, there has begun to grow and develop an increasing number of people who are working on the development of general systems theory and analysis. Such a development is based upon the belief that certain viewpoints, certain kinds of mathematics and technological procedures can be applied to a wide variety of important systems with considerable profit. The pressures for the development of such a body of knowledge grew with the development of a technological society.
