

Parts of a Persuasive Letter

Date

October 23, 2014

Greeting

Dear Jaime,

Introduction

I am writing to you because I think that you should try hula hooping.

Reasons

First of all, I think that you would like hula hooping because it is tricky. You like to practice doing the monkey bars so you get better at it. I think you would like to learn how to keep the hula hoop up for a long time. Also, I think you would like hula hooping because you can do it with friends. You can do it with Sam and me at recess.

Conclusion

These are the reasons why I think you should hula hoop. Please come try it!

Closing

Your friend,
Christine

Addison Stone, Elaine R.

Silliman, Barbara J. Ehren, Geraldine P. Wallach, 2016-05-27 An acclaimed reference that fills a significant gap in the literature this volume examines the linkages between spoken and written language development both typical and atypical Leading authorities address the impact of specific language related processes on K 12 literacy learning with attention to cognitive neurobiological sociocultural and instructional issues Approaches to achieving optimal learning outcomes with diverse students are reviewed The volume presents research based practices for assessing student needs and providing effective instruction in all aspects of literacy word recognition reading comprehension writing and spelling New to This Edition Chapters on digital literacy disciplinary literacy and integrative research designs Chapters on bilingualism response to intervention and English language learners Incorporates nearly a decade s worth of empirical and theoretical advances Numerous prior edition chapters have been completely rewritten Implementing Evidence-Based Academic Interventions in School Settings Sylvia Rosenfield, Virginia Wise Berninger, 2009-02-26 Designed for both researchers and practitioners this book is a guide to bridging the gap between the knowledge generated by scientific research and application of that knowledge to educational practice With the emphasis on evidence based practice in the schools growing exponentially school practitioners must learn how to understand judge and make use of the research being produced to full effect Conversely researchers must understand what is being used in real world settings and what is still needed The editors of this book have outlined this process as a series of steps beginning with being a critical consumer of current research literature followed by concepts to consider in translating research into practice systems issues at local district and state levels the role of teachers in program implementation evaluation of implementation effectiveness and preservice and inservice professional development of teachers and psychologists Each chapter is written by leaders on the topic and contributors include both researchers and school based practitioners With contributing authors from a variety of disciplines this book is an invaluable treatise on current understanding of the complexities of translating research into educational practice Supervision for Learning James M. Aseltine, Judith O. Faryniarz, Anthony J. Rigazio-DiGilio, 2006-05-15 Provides information on how to transform a supervisory system into a performance based model that connects to student achievement and teacher professional development Crafting Writers, K-6 Elizabeth Hale, 2008 How do we teach elementary students to independently use the different elements of craft that are discussed and taught in lessons We begin by honoring the reality that terms like voice sentence fluency and writing with detail are descriptions of where we want our students to be not next steps on how to reach those goals In Crafting Writers K 6 Elizabeth Hale shows us how to identify specific elements of craft when assessing student work and planning instruction and use them to teach students the specific craft techniques that will move them forward as writers Liz offers practical information that teachers can use immediately in their classrooms She also presents a concrete process for noticing craft in writing so teachers can develop and plan craft lessons based on their students writing Learning the techniques that make up good writing also allows teachers to see craft in many different levels of writing a skill that is particularly powerful when conferring with below grade level writers Additional chapters look closely at assessment and classroom management practices like group conferring Most of us know good writing when we read it but writing teachers need to know what makes it work Filled with easy to use charts and practical lessons Crafting Writers K 6 provides clear insight into identifying and teaching the small elements that make good writing successful Student and Teacher Writing Motivational Beliefs Steve Graham, Gary A. Troia, Gustaf Bernhard Uno Skar, 2024-06-21 The study of students motivational beliefs about writing and how such beliefs influence writing has increased since the publication of John Hays 1996 model of writing This model emphasized that writers motivational beliefs influence how and what they write Likewise increased attention has been devoted in recent years to how teachers motivational beliefs about writing especially their efficacy to teach writing impact how writing is taught and how students progress as writers As a result there is a need to bring together in a Research Topic studies that examine the role and influence of writing beliefs Historically the psychological study of writing has focused on what students write or the processes they apply when writing Equally important but investigated less often are studies examining how writing is taught and how teachers efforts contribute to students writing What has been less prominent in the psychological study of writing are the underlying motivational beliefs that drive or inhibit students writing or serve as catalysts for teachers actions in the classroom when teaching writing This Research Topic will bring together studies that examine both students and teachers motivational beliefs about teaching writing This will include studies examining the operation of such beliefs how they develop cognitive and affective correlates how writing motivational beliefs can be fostered and how they are related to students writing achievement By focusing on both students and teachers beliefs the Research Topic will provide a more nuanced and broader picture of the role of motivation beliefs in writing and writing instruction This Research Topic includes papers that address students motivational beliefs about writing teachers motivational beliefs about writing or teaching writing Students motivational beliefs about writing include beliefs about the value and utility of writing writing competence attitudes toward writing goal orientation motives for writing identity epistemological underpinnings writing and attributions for success failure as examples Teacher motivational include these same judgements as well as beliefs about their preparation and their students competence and progress as writers to provide additional examples This Research Topic is interested in papers that examine how such beliefs operate develop are related to other cognitive and affective variables how they are impacted by instruction and how they are related to students writing performance Submitted studies can include original research both quantitative qualitative or mixed methods meta analysis and reviews of the literature Rough Draft Leo d'Entremont, 2015-09-30 Elliot Ray Douglas is an army veteran with PTSD and a closet full of secrets Discharged and alone after an explosion on the battlefield and the implosion of his sham marriage Ray is salvaging what s left of his life Attending a community college should help him adjust to civilian life and give him a sense of direction again if Ray survives one hot teacher hell bent on getting to know him Young adjunct English professor Brian Randall enjoys challenging his students and tends to get under their skins Brian decides to push Ray not only in Composition I but also in facing himself and dealing with his issues While coping with the death of a squadmate and the destruction of the only life he s known Ray will face his greatest fear admitting he s gay This semester is Ray s chance at making a new life for himself and if all goes well Brian will make sure he s a part of it
