Multisensory Landscapes Lara Koegst, Olaf Kühne, Dennis Edler, 2023-06-21 This book provides a broad view on multisensory landscapes from multiple perspectives It includes theoretical perspectives as well as case studies Different theoretical perspectives on landscape emerging from research in the last decades also require a differentiated approach to landscape phenomena going beyond the visual For example a social constructivist approach to the social world foregrounds the processes of negotiating social realities This is not limited to visual aspects and is not based on a clear physical measurability with an accompanying purely quantitative recording A phenomenological approach for example places the synesthetic experience of landscape at the core of interest This approach to the topic of multisensory via landscape is obvious for several reasons Firstly landscape is created from a constructivist perspective through the synthesis of sensory impressions on the basis of social patterns of interpretation and evaluation Secondly communication about landscape is also accessible to people who do not have any expertlike special knowledge in this regard Thirdly landscape as a changing concept is not only a concept of landscape but also of landscape itself Fourthly landscape as a changeable concept is particularly suitable for conceptually framing the highly fleeting non visual stimuli

The Anthropology of Smell Mojca Ramšak, 2024-08-12 This book discusses the meaning of smell from a socio cultural perspective and brings important considerations of smell and olfaction beyond anatomy and physiology in an erudite reader friendly style It addresses ideas about smell and odor in culturally diverse contexts pays attention to the subtle ways in which smell is expressed treats smell as part of memory prejudice rumor and sexuality offers insights into the role of smell in religion literature film art intangible cultural heritage and museum practices with particular attention to the challenges posed by historical smells describes the legal regulation of smell and the background to scent marketing that seeks to influence consumer buying habits adding a unique and practical dimension to the content In addition to philosophical and medical historical aspects the book offers insights into the evolution diagnosis and impact of the COVID 19 pandemic on the human sense of smell and illustrates how our environment and societal influences shape our sensory perceptions and thus our attitudes and interpretation of the olfactory world around us From an anthropological perspective the book looks at olfactory heritage cultural traditions and the symbolism of the nose in different societies Overall it offers a comprehensive and thought provoking cultural examination of the sense of smell a sense that is often underestimated while broadening our understanding of the world of smell and its role in our lives Ramšak's research provides valuable insights into the relationship between smell and culture including its influence on identity memory social interactions cultural practices and beliefs The book is a valuable resource for sensory

The Neural Basis of Free Will Peter Tse,2013 The issues of mental causation consciousness and free will have vexed philosophers since Plato This book examines these unresolved issues from a neuroscientific perspective In contrast with philosophers who use logic rather than data to argue whether mental causation or consciousness can exist given unproven first assumptions Tse proposes that we instead listen to what neurons have to say Because the brain must already embody a solution to the mind body problem why not focus on how the brain actually realizes mental causation Tse draws on exciting recent neuroscientific data concerning how informational causation is realized in physical causation at the level of NMDA receptors synapses dendrites neurons and neuronal circuits He argues that a particular kind of strong free will and downward mental causation are realized in rapid synaptic plasticity Recent neurophysiological breakthroughs reveal that neurons function as criterial assessors of their inputs which then change the criteria that will make other neurons fire in the future Such informational causation cannot change the physical basis of information realized in the present but it can change the physical basis of information that may be realized in the immediate future This gets around the standard argument against free will centered on the impossibility of self causation Tse explores the ways that mental causation and qualia might be realized in this kind of neuronal and associated information processing architecture and considers the psychological and philosophical implications of having such an architecture realized in our brains

Criterial Causation Offers a Neural Basis for Free Will, digital original edition Peter Ulric Tse,2014-01-10 In contrast with philosophers who use logic rather than data to argue whether mental causation or consciousness can exist given unproven first assumptions Peter Ulric Tse proposes that we instead listen to what neurons have to say In this BIT Tse examines the role of physical informational criteria in the neuronal model of mental causation and free will African Environmental Ethics Munamoto Chemhuru,2019-05-30 This book focuses on under explored and often neglected issues in contemporary African environmental philosophy and ethics Critical issues such as the moral status of nature African conceptions of animal moral status and rights African conceptions of environmental justice African relational Environmentalism ubuntu African theocentric and teleological environmentalism are addressed in this book It is unique in so far as it goes beyond the generalized focus on African metaphysics and African ethics by exploring how these views might be understood differently in order to conceptualize African environmental ethics Against the background where environmental problems such as pollution climate change extinction of flora and fauna and global warming are plain to see it becomes useful to examine how African conceptions of environmental ethics could be understood in order to confront some of these problems facing the whole world This book will be of value toundergraduate students graduate students and academics working in the area of African Philosophy African Environmental Ethics and Global Ethics in general
