Small Business Management and Technical Assistance Training Programs Congressional Research Service,2015-02-05

The Small Business Administration SBA has provided technical and managerial assistance to small business concerns by advising and counseling on matters in connection with government procurement and on policies principles and practices of good management since it began operations in 1953 Initially the SBA provided its own small business management and technical assistance training programs Over time the SBA has relied increasingly on third parties to provide that training Congressional interest in the SBA s management and technical assistance training programs has increased in recent years primarily because these programs are viewed as a means to assist small businesses create and retain jobs The SBA will spend 198.6 million on these programs in FY2015 These programs fund about 14,000 resource partners including 63 lead small business development centers SBDCs and more than 900 SBDC local outreach locations 106 women s business centers WBCs and 354 chapters of the mentoring program SCORE The SBA reports that more than a million aspiring entrepreneurs and small business owners receive training from an SBA supported resource partner each year The SBA argues that these programs contribute to the long term success of these businesses and their ability to grow and create jobs The Department of Commerce also provides management and technical assistance training for small businesses For example its Minority Business Development Agency provides training to minority business owners to assist them in obtaining contracts and financial awards A recurring theme at congressional hearings concerning the SBA s management and technical assistance training programs has been the perceived need to improve program efficiency by eliminating duplication of services or increasing cooperation and coordination both within and among SCORE WBCs and SBDCs For example the House Committee on Small Business has argued that the SBA s various management and technical assistance training programs should be folded into the mission of the SBDC program or their responsibilities should be taken over by other agencies because they overlap each other and duplicate the educational services provided by other agencies Congress has also explored ways to improve the SBA s measurement of the programs effectiveness This report examines the historical development of federal small business management and technical assistance training programs describes their current structures operations and budgets and assesses their administration and oversight and the measures used to determine their effectiveness It also discusses several bills introduced during the 111th and 112th Congresses that would have authorized changes to these programs in an effort to improve their performance and oversight These include S 3442 the SUCCESS Act of 2012 and S 3572 the Restoring Tax and Regulatory Certainty to Small Businesses Act of 2012 In addition during the 113th Congress S 415 the Small Business Disaster Reform Act of 2013 and its companion bill in the House H R 1974 would have authorized

SBDCs to provide assistance outside of the state in which they are located without regard to geographic proximity if the small business is located in a presidentially declared major disaster area Also S 2693 the Women s Small Business Ownership Act of 2014 would have authorized to be appropriated 26 75 million for WBCs for each of FY2015 FY2019 nearly double the amount they were appropriated in FY2014 increased the WBC annual grant award from not more than 150 000 to not more than 250 000 and authorized the SBA Administrator to waive in whole or in part the WBC nonfederal matching requirement for up to two consecutive fiscal years under specified circumstances
