Taste and Smell Thomas Hummel, Antje Welge-Lüssen, 2006 Chemosensory dysfunction is a quite frequently occurring problem which significantly affects the patient s quality of life It can result from infectious agents environmental factors toxins traumatic brain injuries as well as neurodegenerative diseases This publication provides up to date articles on the chemical senses including the olfactory trigeminal and gustatory systems The vomeronasal system and its potential significance in humans is also discussed Based on recent functional imaging data the book provides an overview on how the lower senses function how they work together for example to produce flavor how they can be damaged and repaired and how the function of human chemical senses can be assessed The publication focuses on chemosensory dysfunction and pays particular attention to taste and its disorders. Renowned experts in their fields of research have contributed their findings to this topical update on chemosensory disorders and made this volume indispensable reading for otorhinolaryngologists and neurologists.

Navigating Smell and Taste Disorders Dr. Ronald DeVere, MD, Marjorie Calvert, 2010-08-03. Demos Health and the American Academy of Neurology Present a New Book for Patients with Smell and Taste Disorders. Over 200,000 people visit doctors each year for smell and taste problems. Since our ability to smell and taste decreases with age, up to 14 million Americans aged 55 and older may live with these disorders. Undiagnosed smell and taste disorders affect a person's ability to enjoy food and drink and may result in decreased appetite, weight loss, and too much added sugar and salt in the diet. In severe cases, they may lead to depression. Smell and taste problems can also interfere with personal safety, limiting the ability to notice smoke and potentially harmful chemicals and gases. Navigating Smell and Taste Disorders is a unique collaboration between a doctor and a food consultant that both addresses the subject of smell and taste loss and provides food preparation tips and a special recipe section that will appeal to other senses and make food attractive again. This is a must-have reference book for all those living with smell and taste disorders. The book covers the whole disorder, including how smell and taste work, causes of smell and taste problems, treatments, what you can expect when you visit a specialist, recipes that will appeal to other senses and make food attractive again, first person accounts of coping with this disorder. Navigating Smell and Taste Disorders is the inaugural book in the series Neurology Now Books from the American Academy of Neurology. Inspired by Neurology Now, the AAN's leading neurologic patient information magazine, Neurology Now Books are written from a multidisciplinary approach, combining the expertise of a neurologist with other related experts and patients and caregivers. Each volume will provide the reader with the most up-to-date information, answers to questions and concerns, and first person accounts of others who are living with a neurologic disorder.

Innovations in Older Adult Care and Health Service Management: A Focus on the Asia-Pacific Region Madhan Balasubramanian, Angie Shafei, Zhanming Liang, 2024-02-14. Population aging is a consistent global demographic trend. The growth in both the size and proportion of older adults has threatened the sustainability of health systems in meeting healthcare needs of the population. Countries in the Asia-Pacific Region may face even more complex health system challenges due to the diversity in culture, management and leadership styles, composition of health service provision, investment in research infrastructure and innovation, adaptation, data availability, and gaps in information technology. The Asia-Pacific is home to more than half of the world's population and comprises countries across five Asia-Pacific subregions: East and North East Asia, North and Central Asia, Pacific South East Asia, South and South West Asia. The economies are diverse, including six high-income countries such as Australia, Brunei, Japan, New Zealand, South Korea, and Singapore; low-income countries, Nepal and North Korea; and middle-income countries. The region also includes some of the fastest growing economies in the world, including China, India, Malaysia, Thailand, Indonesia, and the Philippines.
