Sonnenschein, 1897 Handbook of Research on Writing Charles Bazerman, 2009-03-04 The Handbook of Research on Writing ventures to sum up inquiry over the last few decades on what we know about writing and the many ways we know it. How do people write? How do they learn to write and develop as writers? Under what conditions and for what purposes do people write? What resources and technologies do we use to write? How did our current forms and practices of writing emerge within social history? What impacts has writing had on society and the individual? What does it mean to be and to learn to be an active participant in contemporary systems of meaning? This cornerstone volume advances the field by aggregating the broad ranging interdisciplinary multidimensional strands of writing research and bringing them together into a common intellectual space. Endeavoring to synthesize what has been learned about writing in all nations in recent decades, it reflects a wide scope of international research activity with attention to writing at all levels of schooling and in all life situations. Chapter authors, all eminent researchers, come from disciplines as diverse as anthropology, archeology, typography, communication studies, linguistics, journalism, sociology, rhetoric, composition, law, medicine, education, history, and literacy studies. The Handbook's 37 chapters are organized in five sections: The History of Writing; Writing in Society; Writing in Schooling; Writing and the Individual; Writing as Text. This volume, in summing up what is known about writing, deepens our experience and appreciation of writing in ways that will make teachers better at teaching writing and all of its readers better as individual writers. It will be interesting and useful to scholars and researchers of writing, to anyone who teaches writing in any context at any level, and to all those who are just curious about writing. A Reader's Guide to Contemporary Literature William Swan, 1895 Handbook of Automated Essay Evaluation Mark D. Shermis, Jill Burstein, 2013-07-18 This comprehensive interdisciplinary handbook reviews the latest methods and technologies used in automated essay evaluation (AEE) methods and technologies. Highlights include the latest in the evaluation of performance-based writing assessments and recent advances in the teaching of writing, language testing, cognitive psychology, and computational linguistics. This greatly expanded follow-up to Automated Essay Scoring reflects the numerous advances that have taken place in the field since 2003, including automated essay scoring and diagnostic feedback. Each chapter features a common structure, including an introduction and a conclusion. Ideas for diagnostic and evaluative feedback are sprinkled throughout the book. Highlights of the book's coverage include: The latest research on automated essay evaluation; Descriptions of the major scoring engines, including the E-rater, the Intelligent Essay Assessor, the Intellimetric™ Engine, c-rater™, and LightSIDE; Applications of the uses of the technology, including a large-scale system used in West Virginia; A systematic framework for evaluating research and technological results; Descriptions of AEE methods that can be replicated for languages other than English, as seen in the example from China; Chapters from key researchers in the field. The book opens with an introduction to AEEs and a review of the best practices of teaching writing along with tips on the use of automated analysis in the classroom Next the book highlights the capabilities and applications of several scoring engines including the E-rater the Intelligent Essay Assessor the Intellimetric™ engine e-rater™ and LightSIDE Here readers will find an actual application of the use of an AEE in West Virginia psychometric issues related to AEEs such as validity reliability and scaling and the use of automated scoring to detect reader drift grammatical errors discourse coherence quality and the impact of human rating on AEEs A review of the cognitive foundations underlying methods used in AEE is also provided The book concludes with a comparison of the various AEE systems and speculation about the future of the field in light of current educational policy Ideal for educators professionals curriculum specialists and administrators responsible for developing writing programs or distance learning curricula those who teach using AEE technologies policy makers and researchers in education writing psychometrics cognitive psychology and computational linguistics this book also serves as a reference for graduate courses on automated essay evaluation taught in education computer science language linguistics and cognitive psychology
