Outstanding College Athletes of America, 1972 Review of Parliamentary Pay and Pensions John Baker, 2008 The Government asked Sir John Baker to review the options for determining MPs remuneration and to identify an independent mechanism for doing so in future This followed a Senior Salaries Review Body report on parliamentary pay 2008 Cm 7270 ISBN 9780101727020 Sir John recommends that the current Senior Salaries Review Body should become the independent body which determines MPs pay conduct reviews every four years or so Consideration should be given to securing its independence by Government undertaking or statute Pay should be uprated annually by the three month average Public Sector Average Earnings Index on 1 April using the published PSAEI figure for January of that year MPs salary with effect from 1 April 2008 should be 64 634 an increase of 3.5 per cent plus 650 this latter sum being that identified in the SSRB report to start bringing the pay into line with the earnings of the public sector comparators The salary should increase again by the PSAEI annual percentage plus 650 on 1 April 2009 and again on 1 April 2010 thereafter by the PSAEI annual percentage The independent body should consider MPs pension arrangements bearing in mind the unusual career pattern of MPs and the evolution of pensions in the public sector and the wider economy The London supplement for London MPs should be increased to 3 623 with effect from 1 April 2008 Sir John is concerned that the new mechanism achieves the support and trust of MPs Government and the public His recommendations are a balanced package which removes the need for MPs to vote on their own pay He offers alternative pay progression and periodic realignment options should MPS feel the suggested increases are presentationally and politically difficult to accept in the current economic climate

Race, Politics, and Basketball Gerry Kavanaugh, 2017-06-09

Storytelling is one of the oldest yet most provocative human art forms It allows us to learn through the illustration and presentation of events as they happened in real time through the words of those who participated allowing the reader to understand and recognize the unvarnished truth As a means of education and learning it is innately valuable Speaking of race and racism it allows us to underscore our values and principles of social justice It allows the participants to express their insights and knowledge through their actual experiences The author has done just that with Race Politics and Basketball a fascinating story of race racism politics education and inequality in the early 1970s told through the voices of those who were there who witnessed it and were a part of it It provides the juxtaposition of good and decent white kids with an unparalleled mentor who kept them on the straight and narrow against good and decent Black and Cape Verdean kids who were forced to face the daily forces of inequality and racial unrest each and every day The summer of 1970 was immensely educational for all who experienced it The Vietnam War the civil rights movements Black Panthers a long dreary recession with high unemployment all explained through the voices of white and Black kids and adults who were there in New Bedford Massachusetts living through it and navigating the ebbs and flows of their daily lives In the middle of it all a 17 year old Cape Verdean kid standing outside a club in the city's West End during a period of unrest was gunned down by three white kids from the suburbs They didn't even know him To top it off they were all acquitted at trial despite the fact that the guy who shot the gun confessed to it The book tells a fascinating story of inequality race and politics that can help us understand the struggles that we are still going through today as we try to understand and reconcile our differences and treat everyone as equals Anyone interested in the issue of race and racism in America today should read this story Gerry Kavanaugh is the Senior Vice Chancellor at the University of Massachusetts Dartmouth He was the Chief of Staff to Senator Edward M Kennedy in Washington DC and now lives in New Bedford with his wife Colleen
