Postmodern Existentialism in Mervyn Peake's Titus Books Lauren R. Moss, 2010-07-05 Much of the discussion about Peake's Titus Books has been about how to place them in the lexicon of English literature I am proposing that these books should be read as works of postmodern existentialism Both postmodern theory and existential theory are interested in the same issues such as the loss of grand narratives the rejection of totalizing world views the subjectivity of truth the nature of one's existence and the search for meaning in an increasingly incomprehensible world Societal issues such as political upheaval the growth of major cities war and advances in science and technology have led both postmodern and existentialist thinkers to view the world as chaotic and intrinsically unknowable and man's place within that world as increasingly unstable All of these concerns are addressed in Peake's texts Peake's novels reflect the existential struggle of its hero Titus Groan to break free of the Hegelian world view represented by Gormenghast and its traditions and into a world in which he is free to be an individual and to find his own truth Peake uses images of solitude and extreme isolation to represent the essential human condition as conceived by existentialist philosophers like Kierkegaard and Nietzsche It is when they are alone that his characters are truly free to be themselves without the social constraints imposed by the history and traditions of the castle Titus's rebellion against Gormenghast represents the rejection of totalizing world views a rejection found at the heart of postmodernism and existentialism Incredulity toward mass society and culture are also central issues in postmodernism and existentialism Nietzsche who is claimed by both existentialists and postmodernists as a forerunner of their respective philosophies claimed that God is dead a belief reflected in the distinct absence of God from the Titus books instead God is replaced by the ritual of Gormenghast In Titus Alone He is replaced by technology This also demonstrates the distrust felt by existentialists and postmodernists alike of a mass society in which the individual is consumed and becomes simply a part of the faceless crowd Peake expresses a deep suspicion of technology and scientific advancement a distinctly postmodern suspicion that was not uncommon among writers after the second World War By examining closely the concepts and themes associated with both postmodern and existential theory it is clear that Peake's Titus Books are deeply concerned with both philosophies Though Peake does not successfully answer the philosophical questions his novels pose it is significant that his work attempts to do so

The Impulse of Fantasy Literature Colin N.

Manlove,2020-06-30 This book grew out of the author's wish to go beyond a formal definition of fantasy to discover a basic urge and interest common to the genre He finds this urge to be the celebration of identity Fantasy is ultimately concerned to heighten and praise being whether that being is God's creation the world or the creations of the fantasy writer themselves This interest can take the form of direct eulogy or of more unconscious fascination It is seen in fantasy's conservatism and its frequently elegiac mode and is demonstrated through its formal characteristics such as circular structure and the use of juxtaposition to heighten individuality It is more overtly present in modern than in pre 1800 fantasy partly because modern fantasy developed as a Romantic reaction against technology and everything that reduced direct contact between people and the environment These aspects of fantasy are illustrated from detailed discussion of the tales of Grimm Walter de la Mare's Told Again W M Thackeray's The Rose and the Ring Charles Williams's prose fantasies Ursula le Guin's Earthsea trilogy E Nesbit's magic books George MacDonald's Phantastes and Lilith T H White's The Once and Future King Mervyn Peake's Gormenghast novels William Morris's late romances Lord Dunsany's The King of Elfland's Daughter E R Eddison's The Worm Ouroboros and Peter Beagle's The Last Unicorn Together these authors and works provide a cross section of what is a fundamentally panegyric genre demonstrating its variety its strengths and its limitations
