The Architecture of Home in Cairo Mohamed Gamal Abdelmonem, 2016-03-03 The hawari of Cairo narrow non straight alleyways are the basic urban units that have formed the medieval city since its foundation back in 969 AD Until early in the C20th they made up the primary urban divisions of the city and were residential in nature Contemporary hawari by contrast are increasingly dominated by commercial and industrial activity This medieval urban maze of extremely short broken zigzag streets and dead ends are defensible territories powerful institutions and important social systems While the hawari have been studied as an exemplar for urban structure of medieval Islamic urbanism and as individual building typologies this book is the first to examine in detail the socio spatial practice of the architecture of home in the city It investigates how people live communicate and relate to each other within their houses or shared spaces of the alleys and in doing so to uncover several new socio spatial dimensions and meanings in this architectural form In an attempt to re establish the link between architecture past and present and to understand the changing social needs of communities this book uncovers the notion of home as central to understand architecture in such a city with long history as Cairo It firstly describes the historical development of the domestic spaces indoor and outdoor and provides an inclusive analysis of spaces of everyday activities in the hawari of old Cairo It then broadens its analysis to other parts of the city highlighting different customs and representations of home in the city at large Cairo in the context of this book is represented as the most sophisticated urban centre in the Middle East with different and sometimes contrasting approaches to the architecture of home as a practice and spatial system In order to analyse the complexity and interconnectedness of the components and elements of the hawari as a collective home it layers its narratives of architectural and social developments as a domestic environment over the past two hundred years and in doing so explores the in depth social meaning and performance of spaces both private and public

Courtyard Housing and Cultural Sustainability Donia Zhang, 2016-05-13 Cultural sustainability is a very important aspect of the overall sustainability framework and is regarded as the fourth pillar alongside the other three environmental economic and social sustainability However the concept is neither fully explored nor widely accepted or recognized This book elicits the interplay of nature culture architecture and theorizes the concept of cultural sustainability and culturally sustainable architecture It identifies four key themes in Chinese philosophy Harmony with Heaven Harmony with Earth Harmony with Humans and Harmony with Self along with Greek philosopher Aristotle's physics form space matter and time it sets them as criteria to evaluate the renewed and new courtyard housing projects constructed in China since the 1990s Using an innovative architectural and social science approach this book examines the political economic social and spatial factors that affect cultural sustainability Supported by a multiplicity of data including field surveys interviews with residents architects and planners time diaries drawings photos planning documents observation notes and real estate brochures the book proposes new courtyard garden house design strategies that promote healthy communities and human care for one another a concept that is universally applicable The volume is a first opportunity to take a holistic view to encompass eastern and western tangible and intangible cultures in the theorization of cultural sustainability and culturally sustainable architecture It is a comprehensive contribution to architectural theory
