Creating a Healthy School David K. Lohrmann, Sandra Vamos, Paul Yeung, 2011. Successful students are not only knowledgeable but also emotionally and physically healthy, motivated, civically engaged, prepared for work, and economically self-sufficient and ready for the world beyond their own borders. To help students meet this standard, a school must use a coordinated, evidence-based approach that supports learning, teaching, and student growth. In short, the school must create a healthy school community. This action tool and accompanying online scoring and analysis tool offers a practical strategy for structuring your school environment to support the development of students who have the knowledge, skills, and abilities to make healthy choices. Updated to reflect current research, new standards, and best practices, the second edition of the action tool guides you through the four steps of the Healthy School Report Card Canadian Edition process with rationale, tips from successful participants, and easy-to-use tools. Tools for organizing can help you develop a school-level process for working with your community. You can then use the scoring tools to assess your school's current health programming and create an evidence-based environment that supports learning and teaching. With the tools for reporting, you can use the Healthy School Report Card Canadian Edition to meet required guidelines and identify and prioritize areas for improvement. The data you collect can assist your ongoing efforts to garner the support of policymakers, family members, and the community. Meos of Mewat in the 21st Century Abhay Chawla, 2023-02-28. While most of the earlier scholarship of the Meo community has focused on the community's troubled histories, their backwardness, and unusual social and religious configuration, this research conducted over a span of five years shines a light upon modern Meos in the twenty-first century and their embracing of mobile technology to leapfrog into the future. With special attention given to Meo youth and women, this work engages with the lived experience of these actors, delving into their aspirations, challenges, and self-devised solutions as they negotiate the structures of tradition and patriarchy. The Meo community, saddled with high levels of illiteracy and marginalization, inhabits the Mewat area of North West India, nestled between Delhi, Agra, and Jaipur. Their spoken language is Mewati, and there are multiple conjectures put forth about their origin and continual migrations throughout history before finally settling in Mewat. Practitioners of Islam, the Meos at the same time observe Hindu social practices such as division into Pals and Gotras with clearly laid down exogamous rules. Historically, this has rendered the Meos as an enigma to outsiders and as a problem for the reigning political state, from the Delhi Sultanate to the British colonizers, contributing to their marginalized status As an oral society the traditional Meo medium was that of the mirasi folklore tellers and bards who would sing about Meo valor in the face of state authority So deeply entrenched in tradition and alterity how do Meos then tread and engage with modern techno centric new media The answer to such an inquiry is not simple or straightforward While over 90% of Meos owned a mobile phone as of 2016 different audience segments provide different narratives and leverage the technology in different ways College students use their mobile phones to access different social media platforms and opportunities for employment and higher education truck drivers on the other hand use their mobiles to remain in touch with their families when out on long distance driving assignments Meanwhile married women and young girls while not allowed to own a phone nonetheless find ways of gaining access to the technology With the use of new media Bollywood consumption is on the rise and one sees changes in sartorial choices ideas on grooming and marriage and social life in general So much so the traditional profession of the mirasi has now become defunct Present day Meo society is experiencing a change at multiple levels which is a complex negotiation between traditional and modern And in this twenty first century story empowered by technology rather than being a victim the Meo emerges as a hero

An Epitome of the Second Edition of Hortus Kewensis
William Aiton, William Townsend Aiton, 1814 Capturing Hill 70 Douglas E. Delaney, Serge Marc Durflinger, 2016-11-07

In August 1917 the Canadian Corps captured Hill 70 a vital piece of ground just north of the French industrial town of Lens The Canadians suffered some 5 400 casualties and defeated three days of determined German counter attacks This spectacularly successful but shockingly costly battle was as innovative as Vimy yet only a handful of Canadians have heard of it or of subsequent attempts to capture Lens which resulted in nearly 3 300 more casualties In Capturing Hill 70 leading military historians mark the centenary of this triumph by dissecting different facets of the battle from planning and the conduct of operations to long term repercussions and commemoration This richly illustrated and thought provoking book reinstates Hill 70 to its rightful place among the pantheon of battles that helped forge the reputation of the famed Canadian Corps during the First World War and it sheds new light on the key role played by Lieutenant General Sir Arthur Currie who fought his first major action as commander of the Canadian Corps
