to deplore a North South divide in research and innovation This is one of the key findings of the UNESCO Science Report towards 2030 A large number of countries are now incorporating science technology and innovation in their national development agenda in order to make their economies less reliant on raw materials and more rooted in knowledge Most research and development R D is taking place in high income countries but innovation of some kind is now occurring across the full spectrum of income levels according to the first survey of manufacturing companies in 65 countries conducted by the UNESCO Institute for Statistics and summarized in this report For many lower income countries sustainable development has become an integral part of their national development plans for the next 10 20 years Among higher income countries a firm commitment to sustainable development is often coupled with the desire to maintain competitiveness in global markets that are increasingly leaning towards green technologies The quest for clean energy and greater energy efficiency now figures among the research priorities of numerous countries Written by more than 50 experts who are each covering the country or region from which they hail the UNESCO Science Report towards 2030 provides more country level information than ever before The trends and developments in science technology and innovation policy and governance between 2009 and mid 2015 described here provide essential baseline information on the concerns and priorities of countries that could orient the implementation and drive the assessment of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development in the years to come

Somebody Should Do Something Michael Brownstein,Alex Madva,Daniel Kelly,2025-09-16 A novel and scientific approach to creating transformative social change and the surprising ways that each of us can help make a real difference Changing the world is difficult One reason is that the most important problems like climate change racism and poverty are structural They emerge from our collective practices laws economies history culture norms and built environments The dilemma is that there is no way to make structural change without individual people making different more structure facing decisions In Somebody Should Do Something Michael Brownstein Alex Madva and Daniel Kelly show us how we can connect our personal choices to structural change and why individual choices matter though not in the way people usually think The authors paint a new picture of how social change happens arguing that our most powerful personal choices are those that springboard us into working together with others warehouse worker Chris Smalls s unionization at Amazon is one powerful example Taking inspiration from the writer Bill McKibben they stress how one important thing an individual can do is be somewhat less of an individual Organized into three main parts the book first diagnoses the problem of either or thinking about social change which stems from the false choice of making better personal choices or changing the system Then it offers a different way to think about social change anchored in a new picture of human nature emerging across the social sciences Finally the authors explore ways of putting this picture into practice Neither a how to manual nor an activist s guide Somebody Should Do Something pairs stories with science plus some jokes to help readers recognize their own power turning resignation about climate change and racial injustice into actions that transform the world Varieties of

Post-communist Capitalism Iván Szelényi, Péter Mihályi, 2019-11-26 This book intends to be a contribution to the varieties of capitalism paradigm. The theoretical background is Weber's theory of legitimacy. Was communism ever legitimate? What kind of legitimacy claims were made in the transition from communism to capitalism? Central Europe was closer to the Western liberal model. Russia built capitalism in a patrimonial way. China followed its own unique way, some called it socialism with Chinese characteristics. Putin experiments with an innovation for post-communist capitalism. He confronts the oligarchs and reallocates property from those who challenge his political authority to old and new loyal ones. In conclusion, the central question is to what extent is Putinism a generic model for post-communist capitalism. The Ulysses Contract

Michael Kemp, 2023-01-24 Avoid share market traps and create a watertight plan for long-term investment success. Most of us know the Greek myth of Ulysses. He made a pact with his ship's crew, ordering them to block their ears with wax and tie him to the mast of the ship while they steered past an island inhabited by mythological creatures called Sirens. This story inspired the term Ulysses Contract, which is a commitment device that helps us to build and maintain good habits and decisions despite future temptations. In The Ulysses Contract, Michael Kemp uses the Ulysses analogy to warn of the sirens that tempt investors to part with their money and demonstrates how to put in place a successful investment plan that embodies discipline, consistency, and patience. Written with masterful storytelling that expertly explains complex investment concepts, you will learn how to avoid get-rich-quick temptations, think cryptocurrency and day trading, learn from the lessons of history, it's NOT different this time, develop a long-term low-risk investing strategy. Armed with this knowledge, you will become empowered to make sound investment decisions and obtain your own slice of financial freedom. Millionaire

Migrants David Ley, 2011-08-02 Based on extensive interviewing and access to a wide range of databases, this is an examination of the migration career of wealthy migrants who left East Asia and relocated to Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and the United States in the 1980s and 1990s. An interdisciplinary project based on over 15 years of research in Vancouver, Toronto, and Hong Kong, with additional comparative visits and consultations in Sydney, Beijing, and Singapore. Traces the histories of the migrants' families over a 25-year period. Offers a critical view of the spatial presuppositions of neo-liberal globalization and an insertion of geography into transnational theory.
