ITE Trip Generation Manual

A manual developed by the Institute of Transportation Engineers (ITE), Trip Generation, 8th Edition, provides information for estimating the number of vehicle trips that may be generated by a specific building category, under a land use category. The information in this manual is provided based on approximately 4,800 trip generation studies submitted to ITE by: public agencies, consulting firms, universities and colleges, developers, associations, and local sections, districts and student chapters of ITE (Institute of Transportation Engineers 2008). The ITE Manual contains trip rates data for 162 land uses, under ten major land use categories for several time analysis periods (e.g., weekdays and weekends). These major land use categories are: Port and Terminal (Land Uses 000–099); Industrial/Agricultural (Land Uses 100–199); Residential (Land Uses 200–299); Lodging (Land Uses 300–399); Recreational (Land Uses 400–499); Institutional (Land Uses 500–599); Medical (Land Uses 600–699); Office (Land Uses 700–799); Retail (Land Uses 800–899), and Services (Land Uses 900–999). The land use classes directly related to freight activity are listed in Table 64b.

The land use classes in Table 64b are those that have explicitly calculated FTG rates, based on a percentage of total traffic. The classification type is a single code, and the geography is a single “site,” though it is unclear if the site is a tax parcel or a structure.

National Cooperative Freight Research Program NCFRP Report 19 Freight Trip Generation and Land Use explores the relationship between freight trip generation and land use The report consolidates available freight trip generation models in an electronic database to assist practitioners interested in using these models identifies potential approaches to develop and apply freight trip generation models and estimates establishment level freight trip generation models in a number of case studies Publisher s description Fundamentals of Plan Making Edward J. Jepson, Jr.,Jerry Weitz,2020-12-14 Urban and regional planning programs aspire to prepare practitioners to write and implement comprehensive plans Yet academic planning programs often place greater emphasis on theory than practice To help address this gap Fundamentals of Plan Making gives planning students an understanding of research and methods of analysis that apply to comprehensive planning Its informative text and examples will help students develop familiarity with various data sources and acquire the knowledge and ability to conduct basic planning analyses such as population projections housing needs assessments development impact analyses and land use plans Students will also learn how to implement the various citizen participation methods used by planners and develop an appreciation of the values and roles of practicing planners In this revised second edition Edward Jepson and Jerry Weitz bring their extensive experience as practicing planners and teaching faculty to give planning students the practical hands on tools they need to create and implement real plans and policies With an entirely new census data set expanded discussions of sustainability and other topics as well as new online resources including a companion website the book is now more accessible and more informative and its updated chapters on transportation housing environment economic development and other core planning elements also make it a handy reference for planning practitioners

Sunridge Properties, Rancho Cordova ,2010 Urban Transportation Planning in the United States Edward

Weiner,2012-11-13 The development of U S urban transportation policy over the past half century illustrates the changing relationships among federal state and local governments This comprehensive text examines the evolution of urban transportation planning from early developments in highway planning in the 1930s to today s concerns over sustainable development security and pollution control Highlighting major national events the book examines the influence of legislation regulations conferences federal programs and advances in planning procedures and technology The volume provides in depth coverage of the most significant event in transportation planning the Federal Aid Highway Act of 1962 which created a federal mandate for a comprehensive urban transportation planning process carried out cooperatively by states and local governments with federal funding Claiming that urban transportation planning is more sophisticated costly and complex than its highway and transit planning predecessors the book demonstrates how urban transportation planning evolved in response to changes in such factors as the environment energy development patterns intergovernmental coordination and federal transit programs This updated revised and expanded edition features two new chapters on global climate change and managing under conditions of constrained resources and covers the impact of the most recent legislation 50 years after the Highway Act of 1962 emphasizing such timely issues as security oil dependence performance measurement and public private sector collaboration

State of the Practice in Highway Access Management Jerome S. Gluck,2010 This synthesis reports how various agencies have acted on the various components of an access management program what have been barriers to action and how new efforts might improve implementation of access management strategies Primary focus areas considered are legal and legislative bases contents of policies and programs implementation aspects reported effectiveness of program implementation and profiles of contemporary practice This synthesis reports on the state of the practice with respect to planning highway design development review and permitting and other focus areas where access management is typically incorporated The emphasis is placed on states but counties municipalities and metropolitan planning organizations are also considered

Advanced Introduction to Urban Transport Planning Kevin J. Krizek,David A. King,2021-05-28 Insightful and original in its approach this Advanced Introduction to Urban Transport Planning provides a fresh look at cost efficiency and casts the craft of transport planning in new light allowing engineers and urban planners to understand the benefits of breaking mobility centric systems that favour cars and prioritising multi modal transport systems that promote access It features in depth analysis of traditional methods and how these are changing due to new technologies financial constraints and evolving environmental trends

Generation Rates Or Equations for Mixed-use Developments in Kansas Mehrdad Givechi,2012 Currently the trip

generation rates and equations contained in the Institute of Transportation Engineers ITE Trip Generation Manual 8th Edition are based on the information collected at single use free standing sites and cannot be directly applied to multi use developments Application of this data for multi use development sites requires use of an adjustment factor called internal capture rate which is expressed as a percent reduction to the trips generated by individual land uses These reductions are applied externally to the site at the entrances adjacent intersections and roadways They are distinct and separate from pass by and diverted link trips and are applied before pass by and diverted link trip reductions are applied While the trip generation rates for individual uses on a multi use development site may be the same or similar to what they are for free standing sites there is potential for interaction between among those uses within the site particularly where the trip can be made by walking As a result the total generation of vehicle trips entering and exiting the multi use site may be reduced from simply a sum of the individual discrete trips generated by each land use Because the development of mixed use or multi use sites is increasingly popular ITE wishes to increase the database on multi use developments in order to provide internal capture data for a broader range of land uses ITE would appreciate additional data from analyses of such developments The goal of this research project is to establish a local trip generation rate model for multi use developments in state of Kansas which can potentially be submitted to the ITE headquarter for inclusion in the national database as well The primary objectives were to identify several appropriate multi use development sites in the state and document vehicular trip data generated by each site in order to develop a trip generation model that can be used to better estimate trip numbers generated by such sites A total of three sites were selected and studied for this project including Mission Farms and Park Place developments both in Leawood Kansas and Metcalf95 Complex in Overland Park Kansas

Bus Transport David A. Hensher, 2020-04-17 Bus Transport Demand Economics Contracting and Policy examines in one source the most critical and current research themes of public transport relevant to regulators planners operators researchers and educators It highlights the wider economic impacts of public transport and compares energy usage across all public transport modes The book examines the evolving debate on Mobility as a Service MaaS and includes discussion of such themes as public image issues performance measurement and monitoring contract procurement and design models travel choice and demand and global public transport reform The book reflects the leading perspectives on the preservation and health of the bus sector intending to move public transport reform forward

New Survey Methods in Transport Elizabeth S. Ampt, Anthony Joseph Richardson, Werner Brög, 1985-12 New Survey Methods in Transport is the first comprehensive compilation of survey techniques used in the broad field of transport planning The book provides state of the art reviews in several areas of survey methodology including cross sectional longitudinal and interactive surveys Papers cover various aspects of the design execution and analysis of cross sectional and longitudinal surveys and highlight the use of in depth and interactive surveys Attention is paid to the emerging issue of the systematic biases inherent in various survey methods
