Troubadour Poems from the South of France William Doremus Paden, Frances Freeman Paden, 2007

Troubadour Texts and Contexts Courtney Joseph Wells, Lisa Shugert Bevevino, Sarah-Grace Heller, 2024-12-03 New interpretations of different aspects of troubadour texts and lyrics from their main themes and motifs to their reception and influence Nearly a millennium after their songs of love politics war satire and redemption began to fill the courts of Europe the troubadours continue to fascinate modern audiences However many aspects of their work such as the supposedly adulterous nature of fin amor the Frenchness of the troubadours the biographical veracity of the vidas and the inherent misogyny of the troubadour lyric have long been taken for granted This volume takes a fresh look at these ideas questioning many of the formative assumptions of troubadour scholarship and proposing alternative readings of many canonical texts Essays offer a reconsideration of the reception of works by such important figures as Guilhem IX Jaufré Rudel Peire Vidal Pistoleta Guilhem Adhemar Giraut de Borneil Perdigon Fulk of Marseilles and Arnaut Daniel There are also examinations of the lexicon and cultural uses of chess azure and tin and the changing landscape of the Rhone delta providing a deeper understanding of the imagery they furnished Other essays consider the later life of the manuscripts including the surprising story of how Napoleon demanded certain Occitan manuscripts after his conquest of Italy The collection as a whole is thus a fitting tribute to the pioneering work of Wendy Pfeffer who has made such a contribution to the field of troubadour studies

The Cathars and the Albigensian Crusade Catherine Léglu, Rebecca Rist, Claire Taylor, 2013-11-12 The Cathars and the Albigensian Crusade brings together a rich and diverse range of medieval sources to examine key aspects of the growth of heresy and dissent in southern France in the twelfth and thirteenth centuries and the Church's response to that threat through the subsequent authorisation of the Albigensian crusade Aimed at students and scholars alike the documents it discusses papal letters troubadour songs contemporary chronicles in Latin and the vernacular and inquisitorial documents reflect a deeper perception of medieval heresy and the social political and religious implications of crusading than has hitherto been possible The reader is introduced to themes which are crucial to our understanding of the medieval world ideologies of crusading and holy war the complex nature of Catharism the Church's implementation of diverse strategies to counter heresy the growth of papal inquisition southern French counter strategies of resistance and rebellion and the uses of Latin and the vernacular to express regional and cultural identity This timely and highly original collection not only brings together previously unexplored and in some cases unedited material but provides a nuanced and multi layered view of the religious social and political dimensions of one of the most infamous conflicts of the High Middle Ages This book is a valuable resource for all students teachers and researchers of medieval history and the crusades Troubadours and Love L. T. Topsfield,1975-05-22 The first known troubadour Guilhem IX of Aquitaine VII Count of Poitou was a versatile man who fought against the Moors in Spain lost an army on his way to the First Crusade and for a time like his great grandson Richard C ur de Lion possessed more land and power in France than the king himself His poetry reflects the hatred of convention and love of the unexpected that marks his life In its easy swing between self mockery and seriousness idealised love and bawdy laughter it introduces into troubadour poetry a sense of conflict which after Guilhem s death in 1127 found a different and wider expression in an opposition between the metaphysical poetry of troubadours who sang with dark rich words and the love songs of poets who composed in a clear easy style on the single plane of their courtly experience Dr Topsfield examines the work of a number of the greatest troubadours from the viewpoint of their attitudes to love A Walking Tour in Southern France Ezra Pound,1992 Rummaging through his papers in 1958 Ezra Pound came across a cache of notebooks dating back to the summer of 1912 when as a young man he had walked the troubadour landscape of southern France Pound had been fascinated with the poetry of medieval Provence since his college days His experiments with the complex lyric forms of Arnaut Daniel Bertran de Born and others were included in his earliest books of poems his scholarly pursuits in the field found their way into The Spirit of Romance 1910 and the troubadour mystique was to become a resonant motif of the Cantos In the course of transcribing and emending the text of Walking Tour 1912 editor Richard Sieburth retraced Pound s footsteps along the roads to the troubadour castles What this peripatetic editing process revealed he writes was a remarkably readable account of a journey in search of the vanished voices of Provence that at the same time chronicled Pound s gradual discovery of himself as a modernist poet The Troubadours H. J. Chaytor,2011-08-11 Originally published during the early part of the twentieth century the Cambridge Manuals of Science and Literature were designed to provide concise introductions to a broad range of topics They were written by experts for the general reader and combined a comprehensive approach to knowledge with an emphasis on accessibility H J Chaytor s volume The Troubadours was published in 1912 It introduces the reader to the concept of courtly love and to the role of the troubadour poets tracing their influence across medieval Europe Subjectivity in Troubadour Poetry Sarah Kay,1990-09-28 The songs of the troubadour poets of the south of France were a pervasive influence in the development of the European lyric and indeed other genres from the twelfth century to the Renaissance and beyond Much troubadour poetry is on the topic of love and is composed from a first person position This book is a full length study of this first person subject position in its relation to language and society Using theoretical approaches where appropriate Sarah Kay discusses to what extent this first person is a self or character and how far it is self determining Dr Kay draws on a wide range of troubadour texts and provides close readings of many of them as well as translating all medieval quotations into English in order to make the discussion accessible to the non specialist Her book will be of interest both to scholars of medieval literature and to anybody

Arnold, 2024-03-20 What was Christianity like for ordinary people between the turn of the millennium and the coming of the Black Death What changed and what continued in their experiences habits feelings hopes and fears How did they know themselves to be Christians and indeed to be good Christians This book answers those questions through a focus on one specific region southern France across a particularly fraught period of history one beset by the changes wrought by the Gregorian reforms the spectre of heresy the violence of crusade the coming of inquisition and the pastoral revolution associated with the Fourth Lateran

Council 1215 Using an array of different historical documents John H Arnold explores the material contexts of Christian worship from the eleventh through to the fourteenth centuries the shifting episcopal expectations of the ordinary laity the changes wrought through wider socioeconomic developments and periods of sharp inflection brought by the Albigensian crusade and its aftermath Throughout the book explores the complex spectrum of lay piety finding enthusiasms and doubts faith and scepticism agency and negotiation It explores not just developments in the content of faith for the laity but the very dynamics of belief as a lived experience We are shown how across these key centuries Christianity developed in its external practices but also via inculcating a more interiorized and affective mode of belief and thus it is argued it can be said to have become truly a religion a structured demanding and rewarding faith for the many and not just the few

Chivalry and Courtesy: Medieval Manners for a Modern World Danièle Cybulskie, 2023-10-24 A surprising look at how medieval etiquette can improve our lives today from the author of the popular How to Live Like a Monk Medieval people are often portrayed as having poor hygiene and table manners licking their knives or throwing chicken bones on the floor In the Middle Ages however such behavior was not tolerated Medieval society cherished order in nearly every facet of life from regular handwashing to daily prayer There were consequences if you didn't adhere to the rules of good behavior you wouldn't be invited to the lord's next dinner you wouldn't win the battle and you wouldn't win the lady Author Daniele Cybulskie explores the world of medieval etiquette encompassing table manners and interpersonal relationships as well as running a household and ruling a kingdom With wit and insight Cybulskie draws on a wide variety of primary sources from handbooks for young knights to romantic poems Though we may no longer need best practices for things like dueling or ordering about our servants the principles of generosity kindness and respect still apply today After all it's a good reminder to not talk when you have food in your mouth and anything you say should be entertaining polite and sophisticated Illustrated with original drawings by Anna Lobanova as well as eighty medieval artworks Chivalry and Courtesy is full of good advice for everyone whether you are a peasant or a knight a student or a CEO a king or a queen

Reading Across Cultures Caroline Gruenbaum, 2025-07-15 Reading across Cultures explores a body of innovative Jewish literary works from the Middle Ages In late twelfth and thirteenth century Ashkenaz the Jewish communities in northern France Germany and England Jewish authors translated several Old French and German stories into Hebrew These stories are distinctly non Jewish drawing on the Christian romances of King Arthur and Alexander the Great and the classical fables of Aesop Caroline Gruenbaum argues that these translations rather than adapting stories that reflected Jewish religious or cultural practice represent a body of secular Hebrew literature in Ashkenaz and evidence of a shared literary culture between Jews and Christians in medieval Europe Reading Hebrew animal fables folktales and chivalric romance Gruenbaum describes an intellectual climate that allowed the literati of medieval Ashkenaz to read across cultures In these translations produced by medieval Jews for entertainment and for wisdom Gruenbaum finds a new literary awakening in Ashkenaz

Love Barbara H. Rosenwein, 2021-09-21 We make sense of love with fantasies stories that shape feelings that are otherwise too overwhelming incoherent and wayward to be tamed For love is a complex bewildering and ecstatic emotion covering a welter of different feelings and moral judgments Drawing on poetry fiction letters memoirs and art and with the aid of a rich array of illustrations historian Barbara H Rosenwein explores five of our most enduring fantasies of love like minded union transcendent rapture selfless giving obsessive longing and insatiable desire Each has had a long and tangled history with lasting effects on how we in the West think about love today Yet each leads to a different conclusion about what we should strive for in our relationships If only we could peel back the layers of love and discover its true essence But love doesn't work like that it is constructed on the shards of experience story and feeling shared over time intertwined with other fantasies By understanding the history of how we have loved Rosenwein argues we may better navigate our own tumultuous experiences and perhaps write our own scripts
