Catalog of Copyright Entries Library of Congress. Copyright Office, 1960 English Fiction in the 1930s Chris Hopkins, 2006-01-01 This study approaches the fiction of the 1930s through critical debates about genre language and history setting these in their original context and discussing the generic forms most favoured by novelists at the time Chris Hopkins uses a series of case studies of texts to draw on develop or explore the boundaries contemporary usefulness and complexities of particular prose genres Generic debates and the political aesthetic effects of different kinds of representation were live issues as discursive struggles and negotiations took place between modernist and realist modes between high middle and lowbrow categorisations of culture between literature and mass culture and between different conceptions of the role of the writer politics and nationality sexuality and gender identities Chris Hopkins draws both on well known texts and on novels which have only recently begun to be discussed by critics of the thirties particularly those by women writers whose work has still not been related very clearly to the literary and political debates of the period Organised in five sections each focusing on major genres he takes a wide range of novels as case studies and discusses their uses of generic forms relating them to other examples and to their historical political and cultural contexts

Entranced by Story Hugh Crago, 2014-04-24 We live in a world of stories yet few of us pause to ask what stories actually are why we consume them so avidly and what they do for story makers and their audiences This book focuses on the experiences that good stories generate feelings of purposeful involvement elevation temporary loss of self vicarious emotion and relief of tension The author examines what drives writers to create stories and why readers fall under their spell why some children grow up to be writers and how the capacity for creating and comprehending stories develops from infancy right through into old age Entranced by Story applies recent research on brain function to literary examples ranging from the Iliad and Wuthering Heights to Harold and the Purple Crayon providing a groundbreaking exploration of the biological and neurological basis of the literary experience Blending research theory and biographical anecdote the author shows how it is the unique structure of the human brain with its layering of sophisticated cognitive capacities upon archaic emotion driven functions which best explains the mystery of story

The Academy , 1898 Children in Opera Andrew Sutherland, 2020-12-03 This book provides a musicological investigation into operas that include children Just over 100 works have been selected here for an in depth discussion of the composer the children and the productions and around 250 relevant works from around the world are also referenced Four composers to have most significantly proliferated the medium are discussed in even greater detail C sar Cui Benjamin Britten Gian Carlo Menotti and Peter Maxwell Davies Since opera began it has been inextricably linked to society by reflecting and shaping our culture through music and narrative and as a result children have been involved Despite the contribution they played for several centuries their importance was overlooked By tracing the development of children s participation in opera this book uncovers the changing attitudes of composers towards them and how this was reflected in the wider society From the early productions of the seventeenth century to those of the twenty first century the operatic children s role has undergone a fundamental change It almost seems that contemporary composers of operas view the inclusion of children in some way as ubiquitous The rise of the children s opera chorus and the explosion of children s only productions attest to the changing view of the value they can bring to the art Some of the children to have characterised these roles are discussed in this book in order to redress the disproportionate lack of acknowledgement they often received for their performances

Ali Zán and True Love J J Garrett, 2004-01-20 A scruffy Arabian colt of the mountainous Latin American outback is purchased by North American Tracer Montrose the morning his wife Constance angrily packs to leave him The horse being a gift that Constance cannot check for her flight home she delays her departure She names him Ali Zn and soon encounters a herd of his kin fleeing a highland inferno Tracer unites equestrian club riders and dirt roughened cowboys to save the animals The mismatched bunch form a trail riding club Meanwhile the purchase of Napoleon and True Love causes a cramp in Ali Zns stable space These older horses are bright and abrasive strong and fearless and champion the outback equine during nerve wracking jumps turns and races Tracer and Constance rider novices persist upon the backs of their steeds within the club arena and along the outback abyss as well But their horses poorly manage long pent demands to achieve maddened equine goals Their competitive spirits turn upon them They find that neither rider nor trail obstruct them that their devils must be accosted elsewhere The youthful Ali Zn interprets this heart rending tale by which horse and human are ridden driven and sometimes bound

A Ride Through the Disturbed

Districts of New Zealand Herbert George Philip Meade, 1870

Grace, a Free Ride to Heaven? Gaylon West, 2011-05-23 Definitions of grace identify one s religious affiliation in Christendom and one s attitude toward Bible content This book gives the theological development of the word and presents evidence that the word does not mean unmerited Further it is shown that to ignore this is to misinterpret Jesus mission and reject the loving grace that He provides to us from His Father and our Judge

The Oxford Guide to Literature in English Translation Peter France, 2000 Translation has been a crucial process in world culture over the past two millennia and more In the English speaking cultures many of the most important texts are translations from Homer to Beckett the Bible to Freud Although recent years have seen a boom in translation studies there has been no comprehensive yet convenient guide to this essential element of literature in English Written by eminent scholars from many countries the Oxford Guide to Literature in English Translation meets this need and will be essential reading for all students of English and comparative literature It highlights the place of translation in our culture encouraging awareness of the issues raised making the translator more visible Concentrating on major writers and works it covers translations out of many languages from Greek to Korean from Swahili to Russian For some works e g Virgil s Aeneid which have been much translated the discussion is historical and critical showing how translation has evolved over the centuries and bringing out the differences between versions Elsewhere with less familiar literatures the Guide examines the extent to which translation has done justice to the range of work available The Guide is divided into two parts Part I contains substantial essays on theoretical questions a pioneering outline of the history of translation into English and discussions of the problems raised by specific types of text e g poetry oral literature The second much longer part consists of entries grouped by language of origin some are devoted to individual texts e g the Thousand and One Nights or writers e g Ibsen Proust but the majority offer a critical overview of a genre e g Chinese poetry Spanish Golden Age drama or of a national literature e g Hungarian Scottish Gaelic There is a selective bibliography for each entry and an index of authors and translators
