New technology operating during a budget crunch, maintaining discipline and building support for the library program are all topics that are included. Cases 'n' Places Stewart Marshall, Wanjira Kinuthia, 2010-02-01 Practitioners in the field of educational technology require a high level of problem solving, critical thinking and interpersonal skills to deal with learning issues that are often complex and multidimensional. Unfortunately, there are few opportunities for providers of learning services and learners to practice authentic instructional design or educational technology as part of their academic preparation and/or training. When learners interact with case studies through reasoning and problem solving, learning takes place through the process of analysis, synthesis, application and evaluation. In particular, case studies that use story telling to reflect problem situations in real life create an authentic learning environment for learners. This book provides the material that learners can use to interact, reason and apply their problem solving skills in realistic and engaging cases. Because of the interdisciplinary and multidisciplinary nature of the field and the cases, this book is useful not just in educational technology but also in other fields. A Facilitator Guide is provided for each chapter for teachers and trainers using this book with their learners. Writing and Selling Poetry, Fiction, Articles, Plays, and Local History Marcia Muth, 1985 This book is designed to help both the beginning writer and the published writer who wants additional guidance in the marketing aspects of the trade.
