Mobile Persuasion Design presents ten conceptual design projects or "Machines" for new mobile applications: smartphone or tablet with Web portals that combine theories of persuasion and information design to change people's behaviour. Areas such as the environment, health, learning, and happiness are explored, looking at ways of marrying people's wants and needs to make simple, usable, and desirable mobile applications. A user-centred design approach has been used, adopting user experience (UX) methods in depth, case studies, and market analysis to see what a modern user needs from their mobile application. By applying concepts like persuasion theory and information architecture, try to find ways to satisfy these needs and positively change their user habits. In 2011, the Green Health and Money Machines won design awards in an international competition hosted by the International Institute for Information Design, Vienna.
