L'

Urgence africaine Kako Nubukpo, 2019-09-18 Derrière le discours savamment rodé d'une emergence africaine les faits restent tels que l'Afrique subsaharienne est la seule région du monde où la population extrêmement pauvre sous le seuil de 1 25 dollar par jour a doublé en cinquante ans Si croissance il y a en Afrique elle est loin de profiter à l'ensemble des Africains Ce livre défend la théorie de l'instrumentalisation de l'Afrique comme laboratoire du nihilisme avec la complicité de ses propres élites Il tire la sonnette d'alarme sur la réalité d'un continent à la dérive subissant des prédations minières et foncières des sorties massives de capitaux ou encore la concurrence des surplus agricoles européens Or des solutions existent elles reposent sur les ressources et les savoir-faire africains Leur mise en œuvre suppose le retour à la souveraineté notamment monarchique et la prise en compte de la société civile Il y a urgence car la croissance démographique fait du continent africain une terre de prospérité future ou une véritable bombe retardement Kako Nubukpo est économiste doyen de la faculté des sciences économiques et de gestion de l'Université de Lomé Togo chercheur au Centre de coopération internationale en recherche agronomique pour le développement CIRAD et membre du conseil scientifique de l'Agence française de développement AFD Il a été ministre chargé de la Prospective et de l'évaluation des politiques publiques au Togo 2013-2015

Violences dans la république, l'urgence

d'une réconciliation Charles Rojzman, 2015-09-01 Partant des expériences de terrain issues de la thérapie sociale qu'il met en œuvre Charles Rojzman montre comment en suscitant la rencontre entre personnes groupes ou institutions qui se haïssent ou se ignorent il est possible de restaurer un lien social et de contribuer à l'émancipation d'une démocratie forte La violence des événements de 2015 en France et en Europe nous condamne à sortir d'une spirale infernale ce livre montre qu'il est possible de sortir du sentiment d'impuissance La société française apparaît de plus en plus fragmentée Quand l'entretien devient la règle quand l'indifférence les humiliations ou les agressions se multiplient entre des univers différents qui semblent sans cesse davantage se loigner les uns des autres brisant le sentiment d'appartenance à la même communauté publique il est urgent de comprendre comment nous en sommes arrivés et de réagir. Dans cette nouvelle édition actualisée et enrichie de son ouvrage initialement intitulé "Sortir de la violence par le conflit" paru en 2008, Charles Rojzman propose de prolonger la réflexion sur la thérapie sociale qu'il mène depuis de nombreuses années en France et à l'étranger dans les banlieues et dans les milieux les plus divers, consistant à habiliter le conflit comme moyen de transformer la violence. Car pour sortir de la violence, il ne s'agit pas d'éviter le conflit mais au contraire de lui donner un cadre d'expression pour que il ne dégénère pas en haine. Partant de nombreuses expériences de terrain, l'auteur nous montre comment, en suscitant la rencontre dans un cadre précis de thérapie sociale entre des personnes, des groupes ou des institutions qui se haïssent, se méprisent ou se ignorent, il est possible de sortir du sentiment d'impuissance, de restaurer les liens et de contribuer à l'émergence d'une démocratie forte. Les outils proposés visent à former des individus démocrates capables de résister aux indoctrinements et aux psychoses collectives, et à modifier les fonctionnements institutionnels afin de favoriser l'exercice de la raison critique de la responsabilité et de la sociabilité. Pour éviter le pire.
