Galli,2022-08-30 Artificial Intelligence AI systems are increasingly being deployed by marketing entities in connection with consumers interactions Thanks to machine learning ML and cognitive computing technologies businesses can now analyse vast amounts of data on consumers generate new knowledge use it to optimize certain processes and undertake tasks that were previously impossible Against this background this book analyses new algorithmic commercial practices discusses their challenges for consumers and measures such developments against the current EU legislative framework on consumer protection The book adopts an interdisciplinary approach building on empirical findings from AI applications in marketing and theoretical insights from marketing studies and combining them with normative analysis of privacy and consumer protection in the EU The content is divided into three parts The first part analyses the phenomenon of algorithmic marketing practices and reviews the main AI and AI related technologies used in marketing e g Big data ML and NLP The second part describes new commercial practices including the massive monitoring and profiling of consumers the personalization of advertising and offers the exploitation of psychological and emotional insights and the use of human like interfaces to trigger emotional responses The third part provides a comprehensive analysis of current EU consumer protection laws and policies in the field of commercial practices It focuses on two main legal concepts their shortcomings and potential refinements vulnerability understood as the conceptual benchmark for protecting consumers from unfair algorithmic practices manipulation the substantive legal measure for drawing the line between fair and unfair practices

The Internet in Everything Laura DeNardis,2020-01-07 A compelling argument that the Internet of things threatens human rights and security and that suggests policy prescriptions to protect our future The Internet has leapt from human facing display screens into the material objects all around us In this so called Internet of Things connecting everything from cars to cardiac monitors to home appliances there is no longer a meaningful distinction between physical and virtual worlds Everything is connected The social and economic benefits are tremendous but there is a downside an outage in cyberspace can result not only in a loss of communication but also potentially a loss of life Control of this infrastructure has become a proxy for political power since countries can easily reach across borders to disrupt real world systems Laura DeNardis argues that this diffusion of the Internet into the physical world radically escalates governance concerns around privacy discrimination human safety democracy and national security and she offers new cyber policy solutions In her discussion she makes visible the sinews of power already embedded in our technology and explores how hidden technical governance arrangements will become the constitution of our future
