John Gatta

What Are People For:

What are Old People For? William H. Thomas, 2004 Nodding to popular culture history science and literature a passionate and persuasive case is made for removing our ageist blinders and seeing old age as a developmental stage of life

The Media Reader on Representations of Race, Gender, Disability, Body Size, Age, and Sexuality Caroline Heldman, Rebecca Cooper, 2025-04-01 This reader is the first comprehensive look at representations of race gender disability body size age and sexuality in US entertainment media The bible of media representation it weaves contemporary media examples together with quantitative data and qualitative case studies in a way that is accessible to students industry insiders and media advocates Using over twenty publicly available reports and datasets the authors provide the most detailed picture to date of how different groups have historically been erased and misrepresented in film and television This book should be on the shelf of every person who seeks to understand the significance of media inclusion for the advancement of traditionally marginalized groups in the US

What People Believe When They Say That People Believe Todd Jones, 2010-10-26 In modern life we often hear people say things like Catholics don't believe in using birth control There are many reasons that we want to know what groups of people such as Catholics are thinking and doing But it's hard to understand which social situations are being described by such statements It's also difficult to understand what speakers believe when they make such statements even when the speakers are social scientists In this work cognitive scientist and philosopher Todd Jones looks at the different things that social scientists and ordinary speakers mean when they make statements ascribing beliefs or actions to groups rather than individuals Such statements are often denigrated as mere stereotypes or generalizations Yet they are also used by people to strategize about what actions to take and even for social scientific explanations In this work Jones takes a detailed look at the different things these kinds of statements about groups can mean and the various social structures they correspond to He also looks at how such statements can and can't be used to successfully explain the behavior of individuals or groups While many people broadly dismiss such statements about groups Jones gives a careful discussion of the problems and possibilities such statements have

Making Nature Sacred John Gatta, 2004-10-14 Since colonial times the sense of encountering an unseen transcendental Presence within the natural world has been a characteristic motif in American literature and culture American writers have repeatedly perceived in nature something beyond itself and beyond themselves In this book John Gatta argues that the religious import of American environmental literature has yet to be fully recognized or understood Whatever their theology American writers have perennially construed the nonhuman world to be a source in Rachel Carson's words of something that takes us out of ourselves Making Nature Sacred explores how the quest for natural revelation has been pursued through successive phases of American literary and intellectual history And it shows how the imaginative challenge of reading landscapes has been influenced by biblical hermeneutics Though focused on adaptations of Judeo-Christian religious traditions it also samples Native American African American and Buddhist forms of ecospirituality It begins with Colonial New England writers such as Anne Bradstreet and Jonathan Edwards re examines pivotal figures such as Henry Thoreau and John Muir and takes account of writings by Mary Austin Rachel Carson and many others along the way The book concludes with an assessment of the spiritual renaissance underway in current environmental writing as represented by five noteworthy poets and by authors such as Wendell Berry Annie Dillard Marilynne Robinson Peter Matthiessen and Barry Lopez This engaging study should appeal not only to students of literature but also to those interested in ethics and environmental studies religious studies and American cultural history

Be a Hero Wesley Campbell, Stephen Court, 2004 Be a Hero challenges the Body of Christ to be enlisted in the battle for mercy and social justice It opens with God's interaction in the affairs of men and His plan to redeem the invisible people through justice mercy and compassion Setting the stage theologically the authors then unveils the great exploits of those who have gone before us and the impact that they made in their own times and on their own culture Practical steps are offered to the reader to empower them to make a difference in their world Earnest Andrew C. Koehl, David Basinger, 2017-08-29 B T Roberts was born in a small farming community in western New York on July 25 1823 By the time of his death in 1893 he had made a profound impact on church and society Roberts's writing preaching and ministry focused on true conversion the disciplines of the Christian life and holiness Rejecting prosperity theology he argued for simplicity generosity and mission A prophet of dissent he vigorously promoted abolition prohibition economic justice and the equality of women Along the way he founded Free Methodism and an educational institution that is thriving 150 years later Roberts exhibited rare and impeccably balanced traits He displayed the courage and boldness to dissent as well as the political savvy and communication skills to bring people together He was a visionary who displayed patience tact and pragmatism His idealism did not obliterate his attention to details and crucial distinctions He made people feel loved respected and challenged he was authentic In his dealings in church and world we see creativity and flexibility grounded in integrity Earnest settles in to the particularities of this life well lived showing the human spirit divine power and practicalities of progress Contributors include David Basinger Doug Cullum Elvera Berry Jack Connell Matthew Moore Timothy Vandebrake Susanne Mohnkern Richard Middleton Jeffrey McPherson Andrew Koehl Lori Sousa Rod Bassett Report United States.
