Children, Childhood, and the Future Andrea Kleeberg-Niepage,2020-01-10 Although most of the world s children live in the Global South much of the corpus of scientific knowledge which forms the basis of the current notion of good childhood worldwide is drawn from research on Western middle class children Even cross cultural research often applies the Western model of childhood as the standard to which others must correspond This volume serves to bridge this gap by both bringing up significant features of the development and socialisation of children in African countries and presenting cross cultural procedures which help to discuss and develop differentiated and joint ideas about childhood instead of implementing one sided standards which are disconnected from most children s lives

Indigenist African Development and Related Issues Akwasi

Asabere-Ameyaw,Jophus Anamuah-Mensah,George Sefa Dei,Kolawole Raheem,2014-07-11 There is no term so heavily contested in social science literature nomenclature than Development This book brings Indigenous perspectives to African develop ment It is argued that contrary to development as we know it not working a greater part of the problem is that conventional development approaches that work have in fact not truly been followed to the letter and hence the quagmire All this is ironic since everything we do about our world is development So how come there is difficult knowledge when it comes to learning from what we know i e what local peoples do and have done for centuries as a starting point to recon structing and reframing development In getting our heads around this paradox we are tempted to ask more questions How do we as African scholars and research ers begin to develop home grown solutions to our problems How do we pioneer new analytical systems for understanding our communities and offer a pathway to genuine African development i e Indigenist African development see also Yankah 2004 How do we speak of Indigenist development mindful of global developments and entanglements around us Can we afford to pursue development still mired in a catch up scenario Are we in a race with the development world and where do we see this race ending or where do we define as the finishing line A Publication of the Centre for School and Community Science and Technology Studies SACOST University of Education Winneba Ghana

War, Women and Post-conflict Empowerment Josephine Beoku-Betts,Fredline A. M'Cormack-Hale,2022-01-13 Since the 1991 2002 civil conflict ended in Sierra Leone the country has failed to translate the accomplishments of women s involvement in bringing the war to an end into meaningful political empowerment This is in marked contrast to other post conflict countries which have increased the political participation of women in elected and appointed office increased the representation of women in leadership positions and enacted constitutional reforms promoting women's rights. Written by Sierra Leonean and Africanist scholars and experts from a broad range of disciplines, this unique volume analyses the historical and contextual factors influencing women's political, economic and social development in the country. In drawing on a diverse array of case studies from health to education, refugees to international donors, the contradictions, successes and challenges of women's lives in a post-conflict environment are revealed, making this an essential book for anyone involved in women and development.

Gender-Responsive Governance in Sierra Leone John Idriss Lahai, 2023-07-28. This book investigates gender equality and women's empowerment in Sierra Leone, focusing especially on women's interactions with the state and its development partners. In particular, it highlights women's increasing agency in acquiring knowledge, diffusing power, engaging in grassroots politics, and compelling the government to adopt more gender-responsive policies. Exploiting extensive fieldwork and original multidisciplinary research methods, including econometric and statistical models, the book first sets out the history and impact of inequality in Sierra Leone and then goes on to shed light on the constructive and collaborative engagement of women and the state on a variety of local and external strategies for promoting gender equality. Drawing throughout on insights from across gender studies, sociology, anthropology, economics, and political science, the book highlights how women are succeeding in transforming marginality into agency in order to build a platform for influencing change. By qualifying and quantifying the challenges of gender inequality in Sierra Leone and the progress that is being made, this book provides important insights that will be relevant to other fragile post-conflict states within Africa. The book will be of interest to students and researchers studying women and gender studies, African studies, economics, international development, sociology, and political science, and international relations. It will also deepen policymakers and practitioners' understanding of women's diverse trajectories and experiences and how the typology of government affects the patterns of inequality and equality.

The Grammar of Knowledge Aleksandra IľUř'evna Aïkhenval'd, R. M. W. Dixon, 2014-02. This book explores the expression of information source inferences, assumptions, probability, and possibility, and gradations of doubt and beliefs across a wide range of languages in different cultural settings. Like others in the series, it will interest both linguists and linguistically minded anthropologists.
