

Precipitate Lab

Procedure

1. Locate a transparency sheet containing a data table. Be certain that the sheet is clean and dry.
2. Place a drop of each of the two ionic compounds in each of the indicated boxes.
Be careful not to touch the tip of the dropper bottle to the solutions. This will prevent contamination.
3. For each combination note whether there is a precipitate and its color (e.g. WHITE PPT).
If no reaction occurs (the mixed drop remain clear) write N.R. for no reaction or draw a dash —.
4. If the precipitate is white, you may not be able to see it against the white background.
Look at the drop sideways and/or slip a piece of colored paper below the droplets.
