Rogerson, 2018-10-03 This edited collection examines contemporary directions in geographical research on South Africa It encompasses a cross section of selected themes of critical importance not only to the discipline of Geography in South Africa but also of relevance to other areas of the Global South All chapters are original contributions providing a state of the art research baseline on key themes in physical human and environmental geography and in understanding the changing geographical landscapes of modern South Africa These contributions set the scene for an understanding of the relationships between modern South Africa and the wider contemporary world including issues of sustainable development and growth in the Global South Higher Education in the Face of a Global Pandemic ,2022-02-28 The book reflects on the extent to which the coronavirus COVID 19 pandemic influenced the education system in Africa notably South Africa The advent of the pandemic has brought a new context to the challenges of access deepening the precarious position of African higher education systems The pandemic underscored that African higher education systems are fragile and not uniformly resilient The book discusses the challenges created or further entrenched by COVID 19 and how the typology of inequality across the differentiated institutions impacted the management of education delivery during COVID 19 Per se lessons learned were documented to inform decision making and practice while drawing conclusions for future usage Even though the shift to emergency remote teaching was not foreseen and thus not coordinated the authors argue that students learning styles perceptions of online learning and digital pedagogy should be considered in the post COVID 19 curricula development processes Handbook of Research on Promoting Social Justice for Immigrants and Refugees Through Active Citizenship and Intercultural Education Barreto, Isabel María Gómez, 2021-06-11 Migration movements have been a constant in the societies of the past as well as in postmodern society However in the past ten years the increase in political economic and religious conflict amongst nations the increase of the poverty index and many and various natural disasters have duplicated the forced displacement of millions of people across the seven continents of the planet This situation brings important challenges in terms of the vulnerability inequity and discrimination that certain peoples suffer Professionals from the fields of the social sciences education psychology and international law share the fact that education represents an opportunity for children and young migrants to become members with full rights in the societies they arrive in Empirical studies show that the implementation of the right to education for migrants presents some challenges and dilemmas to the governments of host countries and more specifically to the education centers NGOs universities and the professionals working in them hence the need for more research on these issues of immigration refugees social justice and intercultural education The Handbook of Research on Promoting Social Justice for Immigrants and Refugees Through Active Citizenship and Intercultural Education provides visibility to issues such as the increase in migration and displacement and the difficulties in political agreements educational contexts and in cultural issues stigmatization vulnerability social exclusion racism and hatred amongst host communities This book gives possible solutions to this current complex situation and helps foster and promote sensitivity perspective and critical thinking for a respectful and tolerant coexistence and promotion of equity and social justice The chapters promote cultural diversity and inclusion in classrooms by offering knowledge strategies and research on organizational development for educational institutions and multicultural environments This book is essential for administrators policymakers leaders teachers practitioners researchers academicians and students interested in the promotion of social justice in education for immigrants and refugees Innovations in online teaching and learning Judah P. Makonye, Nokulunga S. Ndlovu, 2023-03-01 This book's research is on online pedagogical approaches devised by teacher educators and researchers to circumvent a face to face curriculum delivery during the COVID 19 pandemic The challenge faced by educators was that they were uncertain of how to use digital technologies in teaching learning and assessment productively This book reports on case studies on teaching student teachers with technology in a way that advanced not only communication but also the cognitive growth of students in relation to disciplinary knowledge The scholars from South African universities used both conceptual and empirical methodologies mostly in qualitative set ups The scholarly contributions in this book are varied They cover theoretical nuances for ICT use in education considerations for the use of computers in the classroom pedagogical thinking and pedagogical integration of ICTs in education affordances of iPads in visible teaching and learning supporting student cognition in Languages Mathematics Science Engineering Graphics and Design with ICTs The use of software applications such as GeoGebra and Excel in teaching and learning mathematics is researched among others The rich discussions that emerged from their research enable academics to learn from others innovative moments that came as a result of pandemic pressure The recommendations in this book can be used in blended learning beyond the COVID 19 era as curriculum delivery methods are bound to change The value of this book is that it reports on pedagogical innovations in using digital technologies in teacher education Researchers have an opportunity to learn from this book how to deal with the tantalising teaching and learning problem of our time How can the use of digital technology transform teaching and learning in general and teacher education in particular Towards more effective collaboration by higher education institutions for greater regional development in the Gauteng City-Region Robert Bergman, 2014-11-19 Higher education institutions HEIs in the Gauteng City Region GCR and elsewhere are increasingly being called upon to do more than their traditional roles of teaching and research. They are now expected to collaborate and engage with other stakeholders with a view to contributing directly and indirectly to social and economic development in their localities. Such an orientation includes having HEIs actively fostering public private partnerships and other initiatives that enhance equitable regional development. The adoption of such a focus has implications for all aspects of these institutions' activities as well as for the policy and regulatory framework in which they operate. This Occasional Paper reflects critically on the role of HEIs in regional development. It surveys current debates on the matter and draws out some of the implications on how we ought to think further about the current state of government industry-academia interaction and collaboration for development in the GCR. It is motivated by an awareness of the increasing importance of higher education in the regional development discourse alongside a body of international theory and practice on the contribution of HEIs to regional development. A cornerstone of this body of literature is the so called triple helix framework within which government, industry and academia work intimately, intensely and collaboratively towards a common vision of regional development. Within this framework HEIs are considered to be a public good that must play a large, meaningful and relevant role in the development and improvement of the cities and regions where they are located. 1, 2 They do not and cannot stand completely outside the realities of their geographic, social, cultural and political environment. The intended audience for this report extends beyond academics and HEI administrators to include government officials, business and labour leaders, civil society and citizens because a discussion on stimulating and improving the GCR must be much more than an academic exercise. The collaboration that is essential to regional development requires stakeholders to be familiar with a wide spectrum of issues of importance to individual constituencies. Each constituency must add value and insight to the discussion by drawing on their specific knowledge, experience and self-interests. Establishing this common ground is fundamental to initiating meaningful debate about what the GCR can and should be and how regional HEIs can work more collaboratively, creatively and effectively to improve and advance the region. Collaboration and Integration in Construction, Engineering, Management and Technology Syed M. Ahmed, Paul Hampton, Salman Azhar, Amelia D. Saul, 2020-12-21 This book gathers papers presented at the 11th International Conference on Construction in the 21st Century held in London in 2019. Bringing together a diverse group of government agencies, academics, professionals and students, the book addresses issues related to construction safety, innovative technologies, lean and sustainable construction, international construction, improving quality and productivity and innovative materials in the construction industry. In addition, it highlights international collaborations between various disciplines in the areas of construction, engineering, management and technology. The book demonstrates that as the industry moves forward in an ever complex global economy, multi-national collaboration is crucial and its future growth will undoubtedly depend on international teamwork and alliances.
