U.S. Geological Survey Professional Paper, 1932 Modernist Experiments in Genre, Media, and Transatlantic Print Culture Jennifer Julia Sorensen, 2016-12-08 The years from 1890 through 1935 witnessed an explosion of print both in terms of the variety of venues for publication and in the vast circulation figures and the quantity of print forums Arguing that the formal strategies of modernist texts can only be fully understood in the context of the material forms and circuits of print culture through which they were produced and distributed Jennifer Sorensen shows how authors and publishers conceptualized the material text as an object as a body and as an ontological problem She examines works by Henry James Jean Toomer Djuna Barnes Katherine Mansfield and Virginia Woolf showing that they understood acts of reading as materially mediated encounters Sorensen draws on recent textual theory media theory archival materials and paratexts such as advertisements illustrations book designs drafts diaries dust jackets notes and frontispieces to demonstrate how these writers radically redefined literary genres and refashioned the material forms through which their literary experiments reached the public Placing the literary text at the center of inquiry while simultaneously expanding the boundaries of what counts as that Sorensen shows that modernist generic and formal experimentation was deeply engaged with specific print histories that generated competitive media ecologies of competition and hybridization

Geological Survey Professional Paper, 1978 Geological Survey Bulletin, 1967 Geology of the Taunton Quadrangle, Bristol and Plymouth Counties, Massachusetts Joseph Harold Hartshorn, 1967 Prepared in cooperation with the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Department of Public Works History of Circumcision From the Earliest Times to the Present P.C. Remondino, M.D., 1891 History of Circumcision P. C. Remondino, 2018-10-29 In ancient Egypt the performance of circumcision was at one time limited to the priesthood who in addition to the cleanliness that this operation imparted to that class added the shaving of the whole body as a means of further purification The nobility royalty and the higher warrior class seem to have adopted circumcision as well either as a hygienic precaution or as an aristocratic prerogative and insignia Among the Greeks we find a like practice and we are told that in the times of Pythagoras the Greek philosophers were also circumcised although we find no mention that the operation went beyond the intellectual class
