BIOGRAPHY

My name is Evan Cary. I was raised in a small rural town in New Hampshire that is part of what's known as the Upper Valley, a cluster of small towns and villages in both New Hampshire and Vermont that are divided by the Connecticut River. The city of Lebanon, like many small New England towns included in the "UV", contains a rich history deriving from its early colonial settlement and the presence of Dartmouth College. I spent 19 years there before leaving to attend Antioch College in Yellow Springs, Ohio.

My relationship with the guitar began in high school at the suggestion of my high school guidance counselor. I was lacking enough credits to graduate, and was feeling disillusioned with high school, my classes and American culture in general. In addition to the guitar class at school, I began studying with Classical guitarist Ed Eastridge. From the beginning, the guitar captivated and challenged me. In spite of my passion for the instrument, I attended Antioch College as a Creative Writing major minoring in Musical Composition, but found myself spending all my time when I wasn't in class playing the guitar. In 2005, a college friend invited me to come to visit Madrid Spain where I experienced Flamenco for the first time. I had never seen or heard the guitar played that way and I returned from the trip a changed man. I tried to teach myself how to play Flamenco guitar by studying YouTube videos and with other instructions I found online but came to the conclusion that if I wanted to gain any real skill I would need to go to the source. I left Antioch in my Sophomore year, moving to Madrid Spain in 2006 and my Flamenco guitar studies began when I started studying with world-renowned Flamenco guitar teacher Aquilino 'El Entri' Jimenez. From 2006 to 2009 I studied under El Entri at the Amor de Dios Flamenco academy, learning to accompany Flamenco song and dance as well as perform solo pieces for the guitar. I admired the work ethics of great guitarists like Paco de Lucia and would often practice six to ten hours a day trying to 'catch up'. When El Entri established his own Flamenco school, the Cañorroto Academia in the famed 'Cañorroto' neighborhood, I moved with him and continued to learn side by side with other up and coming Flamenco artists such as Joni Jimenez and El Kilino. In 2010 and 2011, I returned to New England to perform two summer concert tours, playing traditional Flamenco pieces along with my own original compositions.

Many of my fellow Flamenco students have gone on to have successful Flamenco guitar careers but after only studying for a couple of years I found myself becoming disillusioned with

A History of the Irish Short Story Heather Ingman, 2009-05-14 Though the short story is often regarded as central to the Irish canon, this text was the first comprehensive study of the genre for many years. Heather Ingman traces the development of the modern short story in Ireland from its beginnings in the nineteenth century to the present day. Her study analyses the material circumstances surrounding publication, examining the role of magazines and editors in shaping the form. Ingman incorporates recent critical thinking on the short story, traces international connections, and gives a central part to Irish women's short stories. Each chapter concludes with a detailed analysis of key stories from the period discussed, featuring Joyce, Edna O'Brien, and John McGahern among others. With its comprehensive bibliography and biographies of authors, this volume will be a key work of reference for scholars and students both of Irish fiction and of the modern short story as a genre.

The South African Short Story in English, 1920-2010 Marta Fossati, 2024-09-05 Through detailed close readings alongside investigations into the history of print culture, Marta Fossati traces the development of the South African short story in English from the late 1920s to the first decade of the twenty-first century. She examines a selection of short stories by important Black South African writers: Rolfes and Herbert Dhlomo, Peter Abrahams, Can Themba, Alex La Guma, Mtutuzeli Matshoba, Ahmed Essop, and Zo Wicomb, with an alertness to the dialogue between ethics and aesthetics performed by these texts. This new history of Black short fiction problematises and interrogates the often polarised readings of Black literature in South Africa that can be torn between notions of literariness protest and journalism Due to material constraints short fiction in South Africa circulated first and foremost through local print media which Fossati analyses in detail to show the cross fertilisation between journalism and the short story While rooted in the South African context the short stories considered also hold a translocal dimension allowing us to explore the ethical and aesthetic practice of intertextuality These are writings that complicate the aesthetics ethics binary generic classifications and the categories of the literary and the political Theoretically eclectic in its approach although largely underpinned by a narratological analysis The South African Short Story in English 1920-2010 When Aesthetics Meets Ethics offers a fresh perspective on the South African short story in English spotlighting several hitherto marginalised figures in South African literary studies

Wedemeyer,Wendy Doniger,2010 This volume comprises papers presented at a conference marking the 50th anniversary of Joachim Wach s death and the centennial of Mircea Eliade s birth Its purpose is to reconsider both the problematic separate legacies of these two major twentieth century historians of religions and the bearing of these two legacies upon each other Shortly after Wach s death in 1955 Eliade succeeded him as the premiere historian of religions at the University of Chicago As a result the two have been associated with each other in many people s minds as the successive leaders of the so called Chicago School in the history of religions In fact as this volume makes clear there never was a monolithic Chicago School Although Wach reportedly referred to Eliade as the most astute historian of religions of the day the two never met and their approaches to the study of religions differed significantly Several dominant issues run through the essays collected here the relationship between the two men s writings and their lives and in Eliade s case the relationship between his political commitments and his writings in fiction history of religions and autobiography Both men s contributions to the field continue to provoke controversy and debate and this volume sheds new light on these controversies and what they reveal about these two scholars legacies The
